RED ARMY REPORTED STILL FIGHTING DESPERATELY AT KIEV

DISCOUNTS CLAIMS OF GERMANS

Red Army Report it is Still Battling Heavily for Ukrainian Capital and That Invaders Have Lost Ten Divisions, Including 150,000 Men Leaves Doubt Whether Nazis Have Occupied City

DRIVE ON LENINGRAD REPORTED INCREASING

By the Associated Press

Although clearly in a desperate position in the Ukraine, the Red army reported today it still was fighting heavily at Kiev and that Germans had lost 10 divisions—up to 150,000 men—in assaulting the city where they claim the swastika flag already floats.

The German High Command said that the citadel of Kiev was stormed Friday, that the Russian officers fled and the whole Red army garrison surrendered without further resistance.

This left some doubt whether the Germans had occupied the old Ukraine capital or had merely smashed into part of it. The Soviet midday communique made no acknowledgements except to place the heaviest fighting directly at Kiev.

A high source in London expressed doubt that the Nazis had done as well as they claimed in the Ukraine.

Russian sources in the British capital admitted that Kiev, Lenngrad, and even Moscow itself eventually might be lost, but said the Soviet union would not even think of defeat unless the Hitler legions were able to drive to the easternmost depths of Siberia.

The Germans claimed not only to have effected a juncture which surrounded four Soviet armies east of that great city, and to be harrying the Russians by land and air in a pell-mell rush toward the industrial Donets basin and its chief city, Kharkov.

Acknowledging that "the reports of German successes probably contain some truth," the London source said it was strongly doubted that an encirclement move could encompass so wide an area or that the Russian forces were being chopped up piecemeal as the Germans insisted.

The Russians pointed out anew that their traditional strategy was one of planned withdrawal and held that loss of Kiev would be no insuperable tragedy.

TWO MEMBERS OF A SECTION CREW KILLED

Pittsburgh, Sept. 20—(AP)—Two members of a Pennsylvania Railroad section crew were killed today at nearby Dixmont by a passenger train enroute from Pittsburgh to Cleveland.

Railroad officials said the men apparently did not see the approaching train and that there probably were other members of the crew who escaped."

The men killed were identified as James Young and Cal Anderson.

THREE DIE IN CRASH

Sewell, N. J., Sept. 20—(AP)—Three men were killed today when their automobile was struck by a Pennsylvania - Reading Seashore Lines train on the Turners road grade crossing east of this Gloucester county community. The victims were not immediately identified. The wrecked automobile burst into flames after the collision. Investigators of the railroad line said they understood the three men were the only occupants of the car.

WESTMORELAND ELECTION ROW IS UNSETTLED

Greensburg, Sept. 20—(AP)—Westmoreland county court last night passed onto the state supreme court the question of deciding finally whether a register of wills should be elected November 4 to succeed the late Herbert Wirsing.

In hand with this, the court dismissed a petition of the county Republican committee seeking an injunction against the election. The decision further ordered the Westmoreland election board to proceed meanwhile with plans for electing a register, whose salary is $4,000 a year.

The judges pointed out hasty action had been asked in the matter

14-MAN GROUP WILL DRAFT NEW 'SUPER-BUDGET'

Committee, Authorized in Amendment to Revenue Bill, Will be Set Up As Soon As President Signs the Measure

TO CUT DOWN SPENDING

BULLETIN

Hyde Park, Sept. 20—(AP)—President Roosevelt today signed the $3,553,400,000 tax bill, the largest ever enacted. He affixed his signature at 11:15 a. m. (EST).

Washington, Sept. 20—(AP)—Legislative leaders said today that a new 14-man committee authorized to investigate non-defense expenditures may write a "super-budget" designed to make substantial reductions in present outlays for domestic activities.

The committee, authorized in a Senate amendment to the record $3,553,400,000 revenue bill, will be set up as soon as President Roosevelt signs the tax measure. It will consist of the secretary of the treasury, the budget director and a dozen members of the senate and house taxing and appropriating committees. Its duty will be to make a thorough inquiry in an effort to curtail non-defense spending. It would have a $10,000 operating fund.

With Second Army in Louisiana, Sept. 20.—(AP)—Air superiority and motorized infantry are needed for complete success of tank attacks, Major General Charles S. Scott, commander of the nation's only complete tank corps, declared today.

"The day of trying to operate without airplanes is past," he asserted, "and putting foot troops with tanks is like sending a plow mule and race horse out together and expect them to go at the same speed."

This was demonstrated in the Second-Third Army maneuvers this week when the armored forces of General Scott led a spearhead of a combined armored-infantry-cavalry-air attack to split the

AIRCRAFT WORKERS MAY QUIT

Threats of Strikes in War Plane Factories on Both Coasts Face Nation, While Fear of Soft Coal Shortage Eases With Assurance That 44,000 Miners Will Return to "Captive" Pits

SEAMEN STILL HOLDING OUT FOR WAR BONUSES

By the Associated Press

Threats of strikes in war plane factories on both coasts faced the nation today, while the fear of a soft coal shortage eased with the assurance that some 44,000 miners will return to the "captive" pits in Pennsylvania, West Virginia and Kentucky Monday.

A walkout in the aircraft plants would affect more than 38,000 workers.

On the west coast, AFL machinists at the San Diego plant of the Consolidated Aircraft Corporation said they had halted wage negotiations and were prepared to enforce demands with a walkout.

George C. Castleman, vice president of the International Association of machinists, said the National Defense Mediation Board had been requested to consider the dispute, after Consolidated refused to give a general 10-cent hourly wage increase to 23,300 employes. The present minimum rate for beginners is 55 cents an hour, with skilled men receiving more.

In the east, trouble brewed at the plants of the Curtiss-Wright Corporation in Buffalo, N. Y., and Air Associates, Inc., at Bendix, N. J.

At the Curtiss-Wright plant a union of employes known as "The Aircraft," not affiliated with national organizations, voted to strike unless the National Labor Relations Board grants an employe representation election in 10 days.

The union claims a majority of the firm's 15,000 workers. Its president, Leo Kriegbaum, said a decision in a mass meeting last night was almost unanimous on the strike issue.

The CIO workers at Air Associates in Bendix authorized a second strike call. They were out 21 days in July. The union gained a Labor Board election last July and struck later, contending workers were fired for union activity. Joe Miller, representing the local,

AGREEMENT ON MATERIAL AID GOING TO RUSSIA

London, Sept. 20—(AP)—An agreement on immediate material aid to Russia has been reached here by the United States and British missions to Moscow, W. Averill Harriman, head of the American delegation said today.

Harriman emphasized that the agreement was on immediate shipments only and that no settlement had been reached on general policy. The American delegation expects to go to Moscow soon.

Saying that Lord Beaverbrook, British minister of supply and head of the British mission, already was in the Russian capital, Harriman added laughingly: "I have no concern over who arrives first as this is a contributing mission."

He said that General James E. Chaney, special military observer in London, would take the place on the Moscow delegation of General George M. Brett, now in the Middle East, because Brett will be unable to complete his business there in time.

Harriman's press conference spiked a report that he already had left.

Regarding the particular supplies which will be sent, Harriman said: "There will be hundreds of American planes and tanks sent to Russia, but I would not wish to specify when or what types. The flow will be constantly increasing and eventually will be limited only by problems of transport."

It is "reasonable to assume," he added, that the question of replacement of raw materials lost by Russia through German conquests or bomb damage, also will be considered by Britain and the United States.

12 More Hostages Face Nazi Firing Squads In France

Paris, German-Occupied France, Sept. 20—(AP)—The Germans announced today the shooting of 12 more hostages as a reprisal for an attack in which a German noncommissioned officer was killed September 16.

Colonel General Heinrich von Stuelpnagel, commandant of the occupying forces in France, said that seven of the 12 were picked and shot as Communists, two for attacks against German soldiers and three for illegal possession of arms.

Von Stuelpnagel in curt phrases warned that in case of further attacks "many more hostages will be shot."

The new executions raised to 25 the number of hostages brought before Nazi firing squads, and to 35 the number of persons executed as hostages and on charges.

The 12 were the most executed at any one time.

LEWIS DEMAND BRUSHED ASIDE BY INSURGENTS

Leaders of 20,000 Hard Coal Miners Who Stopped Work in Protest Against Union Assessments to Start Spreading Strike

TO ENTER NEW FIELDS

next week throughout the entire ing John L. Lewis' powerful United Mine Workers of America, leaders of 20,000 hard coal miners who stopped work in protest against increased union dues and assessments announced today they would start spreading the revolt anthracite diggers in the state, rich anthracite region of Pennsylvania.

Brushing aside demands that they return to work in 42 mines shutdown by the walkout in the Hazleton area of the union's district nine, insurgents called a meeting for tomorrow to plan a march into adjoining Wilkes-Barre-Scranton district one to seek support and wired Lewis:

"We deem your lack of interest in our movement as an outright disregard for the rights and privileges for the men of our district No. 7. We are forced to take action, which we feel will get our demands guaranteed under the constitution by right of strike, joint agreement or any other legal means."

The insurgents claimed they had not received the report of a three-man union commission, named by Lewis, which inquired into the dispute and called on the protesting miners to return to work pending settlement of their grievances through regular channels. Garrett Miller, leading the revolt, said he got a letter with a note saying the report was enclosed but that he could find no report. Previously he could see "no hope for a settlement" in the commission proposal.

DECREE OF PRESIDENT ATTACKED

Charging That Roosevelt Had Broken Pledges to American People by "Ordering Navy into a Shooting War" Senator LaFollette Serves Notice Policies Face Vigorous Attack in 1941 Elections

ACTIVE INVOLVEMENT AN IMPORTANT ISSUE

Washington, Sept. 20—(AP)—Senator LaFollette (Prog-Wis) served notice today that the foreign policies espoused by President Roosevelt and Wendell L. Willkie would face a vigorous attack in the 1942 congressional elections.

Charging that the president had broken his pledges to the American people by "ordering the navy into a shooting war," the Wisconsin senator called upon all those "who are opposed to entering this war to mobilize for the political battles which lie just ahead."

Re-elected last year with administration backing after he had indorsed the president's bid for a third term, La Follette has been a frequent critic of administration foreign policy moves although a strong supporter of its domestic program.

Despite Mr. Roosevelt's press conference rebuke this week of those who would inject party politics into the present critical world situation, La Follette tlod reporters there appeared to be a "collaboration to purge the Democratic and Republican parties of all those who do not agree with the administration's foreign policies."

He said Willkie, the 1940 Republican nominee, seemed ready to join in this, if reports were true that he intended to campaign only for party members who indorsed the expanding program to aid nations fighting Germany.

The president made it clear he objected to linking party politics with foreign policy when he rebuked a reporter last Tuesday for inquiring if Democrats were going to be encouraged to vote for Republican candidates backing his international course, as against Democrats who did not.

La Follette insisted, however, that the question of active involvement of this country in the war

STATE TEACHERS COLLEGES WILL OPEN MONDAY

Harrisburg, Sept. 20.—(AP)—Pennsylvania's 14 state teachers colleges will open Monday after a delay caused by the infantile paralysis outbreak, but students from eight counties hardest hit by the disease will be barred at least until September 29.

An additional week's vacation was declared for students from York, Dauphin, Lebanon, Schuylkill, Montgomery, Northumberland, Cambria and the Columbia area of Lancaster county.

Public schools in those areas, plus the remainder of Lancaster county and all of Cumberland county, are to remain closed until September 29 to combat further spread of the disease which has taken 30 lives and stricken approximately 450 persons this year.

Together the teachers colleges have nearly 9,000 full-time students.

DEATH OF YOUNG LADY AT SALAMANCA PROBED

Salamanca, N. Y., Sept. 20—(AP)—The death of Miss Frieda Coons, 25, Coudersport, Pa., in front of a tavern brought an investigation today by Acting District Attorney Alonzo J. Prey, who ordered an autopsy.

Prey said police were summoned early this morning to the tavern to investigate a fight and they reported Miss Coons had collapsed. He added she had marks on her throat. Two men are being held as witnesses.

Miss Coons had been visiting Mr. and Mrs. Martin Waleski, who had moved here recently from Coudersport.

Music Dealer Buys College for Women At Mechanicsburg

Mechanicsburg, Sept. 20—(AP)—A Harrisburg music dealer, Austin E. Spangler, bought the Irving College for Women at auction for $14,630 and said today that any move to re-open the institution, closed for 12 years, would be left to the alumni.

The college consisting of Columbia Hall, the main building and three acres of land, was founded before the Civil War and closed in 1929. The furnishings had been sold piece by piece before the property went on the auction block.

Whatever use Spangler makes of the property, the heirs of the president stipulated that the cornerstones of the two buildings—one of which was gutted by fire five years ago—and the college bell, should be turned over to them.

DOZEN BRITISH WARSHIPS ARE IN U. S. PORTS

Secretary Knox, Modifying Policy of Strict Secrecy, Acknowledges That Many Vessels Are in American Shipyards

OTHERS LIE AT ANCHOR

Washington, Sept. 20.—(AP)—The Navy Department, modifying a previous policy of strict secrecy, acknowledged today that more than a dozen British warships are in United States ports.

Twelve were listed by name, including the 35,000-ton battleship Warspite at Bremerton, Wash. Still others—names undisclosed—were reported to be anchored in U. S. waters, under terms of the lease-lend act which gives them access to repairs and supplies at American shipyards.

Secretary Knox, in announcing the change of policy concerning publicity late yesterday, said the step had been taken after weeks of consultation with British officials. A "reasonable degree" of information will be released, he said, but "no information will be disclosed which might be of value to the enemy."

Apparently the move was planned to give Americans and Britons some idea of the magnitude of naval assistance which the Royal Navy is receiving under the lease-lend law. President Roosevelt reported recently that $78,169,377 had been spent in repairing and outfitting naval vessels and on military and naval bases.

The navy did not list the reasons for the presence of the various vessels on this side of the Atlantic.

In addition to the Warspite, at Bremerton, the aircraft carriers Illustrious and Formidable were stated to be at Norfolk, Va.; the cruisers Delphi and Dido at Brooklyn; cruisers Orion and Liverpool at Mare Island, Calif.; the converted cruiser Asturias at Newport News, Va.; the submarine Pandora at Portsmouth, N. H.;

MURRAY RE-ELECTION URGED IN DISTRICT 5

Pittsburgh, Sept. 20—(AP)—Re-election of Philip Murray as president of the Congress of Industrial Organizations was urged today in a resolution unanimously adopted by delegates of District 5, CIO United Mine Workers, holding their convention here.

The resolution praised Murray's "constructive leadership" and also eulogized John L. Lewis, president of the union, for his "splendid work" in behalf of organized labor.

YEGGS ARE FOILED BY OFFICERS

Police Chief Ernest Hartman, of Ellwood City, Armed With Sub-Machine Gun, Halts Trio Fleeing In Auto After $3,350 Robbery at the First National Bank of Harrisville, Butler County

DRUG STORE CLERK IS HERO OF REAL DRAMA

Ellwood City, Sept. 20.—(AP)—Two bandits fleeing with about $1,000 in cash after a bank robbery were shot to death and a third was wounded by two police officers and a drug store clerk in a spectacular, running gun-fight.

The deadly battle burst out first at a highway entrance to this western Pennsylvania community yesterday after the bandits held up the First National Bank of Harrisville, 30 miles northwest of here.

One of the robbers died today of wounds suffered in a gun fight at point blank range with Ernest Hartman, Ellwood City's police chief, who had sought to trap the bandits at the town's entrance by blockading the road with his auto.

The other died almost instantly yesterday of wounds inflicted by the drug store clerk in a fierce, hand-to-hand struggle at the town's outskirts.

The clerk, Jimmy Pasta, had entered the dramatic chase when a police officer commandeered his 1934 auto to pursue the bandits. He shot the man with a rifle wrested from one of the bandits.

Meanwhile, the third suspect, wounded in both legs in the skirmish at the entrance to the town, was beaten into submission by the clerk's officer-companion, Edward Shaffer, who seized a heavy wrench as a weapon.

An auto seized by the bandits from passing motorists after their own "getaway car" was wrecked was the scene of the chase's climax.

Attaches at the hospital where the wounded bandits were taken first reported that the robber who died today had perished of injuries

ITALIAN MOTORSHIPS TORPEDOED AND SUNK

Rome, Sept. 20—(AP)—Two Italian motorships transporting troops to Libya were torpedoed and sunk off the coast of Tripoli, but nearly all the soldiers and crew on board the vessels were saved, the Italian high command reported today.

The rescue was made by other ships in convoy with the motorships, the high command added.

The British planes bombed Tripoli, the principal point of entry into Africa for Axis forces, and Bengasi, the advance coastal base of the German-Italian troops.

London, Sept. 20—(AP)—Archduke Felix, younger brother of the Archduke Otto, claimant of the non-existent throne of Austria, has been granted a visa and is leaving for the United States next week, it was learned today.

London, Sept. 20—(AP)—A German radio broadcast today said Russian troops encircled east of Kiev had attempted to break out of the German ring last night, but had been repulsed by concentrated Nazi fire. Another announcement claimed capture of a small town east of Kiev yesterday by German panzer forces

Sports Writer for Times-Mirror Finds Durocher Has Good Right

Philadelphia, Sept. 20.—(AP)—Memo to major league umpires and all others: Manager Leo Durocher of the Brooklyn Dodgers has a good right.

Ted Meier, Associated Press sports writer, is willing to attest to Leo's fistic prowess after a brief exchange with the Dodgers' leader last night.

It all started when Meier and another newspaperman sought to interview Durocher at the Warwick hotel after Leo had testified before Umpire-in-Chief Bill Klem regarding Thursday's row with Umpire George Magerkurth in Pittsburgh.

Durocher and Meier exchanged words as the interview began. When, Meier said, Durocher made an insulting remark, "I promptly told him 'you're not talking to Magerkurth now, Leo.'"

"Then we'll go outside," Meier quoted Durocher as replying.

"I thought he was kidding," Meier said afterward, "but we walked outside, still talking, and all of a sudden, he hit me on the jaw. Boy, he's fast. I swung back, naturally, but the others stopped us immediately.

"We shook hands afterwards and everything is okay now. Leo was just on edge, I guess."

Durocher dismissed the incident today with "there was nothing to it. Everything is fine now."

EXPERIMENT TO FIND OIL POOL IN VENANGO CO.

An experiment with a new type of geo-electric apparatus is under way in Venango county to tap new oil pools and add to Pennsylvania's output, it was disclosed today by the Department of Internal Affairs in Harrisburg.

Under the direction of a federal official, the experiment is being conducted near Pleasantville and will determine whether wider surveys can be made, says an Associated Press dispatch.

Electric currents are measured in the earth as rock layers reflect them upward, explained Dr. George H. Ashley, head of the state bureau of topographic and geologic survey.

The machine is similar to that used successfully in the Hawaiian Islands to discover water, and with moderate success in the west with oil.

William S. Livengood, Jr., secretary of internal affairs, said the pools of Lafayette township, McKean county, were discovered four years ago by "wildcat" drillers, and were followed by other wells in a "shoe-string" pool.

The discovery has led oil men to wonder where other such pools may lay, said Livengood, adding that the Music Mountain survey showed that "not all the pools have yet been found x x x."

Of the McKean county pool, Livengood said:

"So far as known it is four miles long and from 800 to 2,000 feet wide. Of the 210 producing wells drilled to the end of 1940, several had a production of 500 barrels an hour, or more than 12,000 barrels a day, with a gas production of five to fifteen million cubic feet per day."

OIL PRODUCERS PREPARE FACTS FOR CONFERENCE

Saddened by the death of one of their group and the serious injury of another in the nitro-glycerin explosion on the Warren-Bradford road near Custer City, a committee of oil men at Oil City yesterday wrestled to prepare data on costs and other phases of production to bulwark their protest against the government's freezing of Pennsylvania grade crude oil prices.

J. Clifford Martin, executive secretary of the Bradford District Pennsylvania Grade Crude Oil Producers Association, was killed and Clarendon Streeter, Bradford producer, was critically injured when a truck loaded with nitro, en route to Clarendon, exploded. The oil men were in a car following the truck and were enroute to the conference in Oil City. The truck driver also was killed.

J. E. Moorhead, executive manager of the Pennsylvania Grade Crude Oil Association, headed the fact-finding committee. Fayette B. Dow, general counsel for the association, will lay the producers' case before Leon Henderson, federal price coordinator, in Washington at a public hearing set for next Wednesday.

Working with Moorhead were Edward C. Breene, Oil City attorney and producer; R. T. Zook, Bradford producer; Edwin Robinson, of Fairmont, W. Va., secretary of the West Virginia Oil and Gas Men's Association, and Philip Faine, of New Straitsville, O., secretary of the Ohio-Pennsylvania Oil Producers Association.

IVAN S. STONE

Relatives and friends here are shocked to receive the news that Ivan S. Stone, formerly of Warren, passed away last night in Cleveland, O., where he had been employed for the past two years. He had been in ill health for several months, but his condition had not been considered serious.

Mr. Stone was born in Warren and had always resided here until two years ago. He was employed by the Harvey Stief sign manufacturing concern.

Besides his wife, Wynona Stone, he leaves one brother, Glenn, of Warren, and a sister, Mrs. Vera Darling, of Cleveland.

Funeral arrangements have not been completed, but removal will be made to the Peterson Funeral Home here and burial will be made in the local cemetery.

MRS. BESSIE FARNSWORTH

Funeral services in memory of Mrs. Bessie Farnsworth, of Clarendon, were held at 2:30 o'clock Friday afternoon at the Lutz Funeral Home, conducted by Rev. A. G. Meade, assisted by Rev. Emerson Jones. Two solos, "Face to Face" and "No Night There", were sung by Wallace Wright. Bearers for interment in Oakland cemetery were Raymond Dirling, Harold Youngquist, Gerald Dykins, John Moore, George Seavy and Floyd Crocker.

Those who came from out of town included Eugene Farnsworth, Robinson, Ill.; Mr. and Mrs. Ed Owens, Sheffield; Mrs. William Irvin and Mrs. Betty Robinson, Barnes; also friends from Clarendon.

SURPRISE VISIT PAID LODGE AT MEETING HERE

Soon after the Lady Warren Rebekah Lodge had convened its regular business session at eight o'clock last evening in the I.O.O.F. hall, members were paid a surprise visit by approximately 150 visitors from nearby Pennsylvania and New York towns.

In the caravan were Odd Fellows and Rebekahs from Lakewood, Panama, Falconer and Jamestown, N. Y.; Youngsville, Tidioute, Corry and Waterford.

The Corry drill team presented a beautiful drill and two members from that lodge gave a comic song and dance number. Remarks by Fred Nelson, of the Jamestown lodge, were followed by entertainment by the Panama Rebekah "kitchen band." Odd Fellows and Rebekahs from Lakewood staged a drill which included an impressive salute to the flag.

The program and evening was delightfully concluded with the serving of refreshments brought by the visitors.

Friday afternoon, the local Rebekahs gathered in the lodge rooms to can fruit for the I.O.O.F. Home at Meadville. There was a good crowd out for the work session, for the tureen supper and lodge which followed.

Officers were nominated for the ensuing year and a committee was appointed to audit the books. A request was made that all degree members be out for practice next Friday evening in preparation for a "visiting" meeting at Union City on October 15.

ED WYNN'S "BOYS AND GIRLS TOGETHER" TO APPEAR AT SHEA'S THEATRE, JAMESTOWN

Ed Wynn, America's top comedian presents his hilarious musical revue "Boys and Girls Together" to local theatregoers for one night only Thursday October 9th at Shea's theatre, Jamestown.

Coming here direct from his triumphant New York engagement the 'Perfect Fool' returns after three years, with this joyous jamboree that he calls "Boys and Girls Together", bringing some of his reliable comedy tricks and a lot of new ones.

As star, author and producer of the show, he is providing a stunning spectacle, fetching novelties, top-notch dancers and singers, variety turns and specialties with an original twist, and a bevy of glamorous beauties parading as the "Cocktail Hour Girls", and a new and talented ensemble of Wynnsom dancers.

From the moment he unexpectedly pops on the scene and starts things off with a drop and whoop, Wynn is in and under and over and around everything and everybody during the long but lively evening. His part is longer than Hamlet's, and certainly far funnier and faster, if not so philosophical.

DIRECTORS TO HOLD SESSIONS HERE THURSDAY

Approximately 160 persons are expected to attend the annual Warren county school directors' convention, to be held next Thursday, September 25, at the court house here, it was stated today by H. L. Blair, county superintendent of schools.

The sessions will open Thursday morning at 10 o'clock with devotionals led by Major B. E. Flinn, of the local Salvation Army corps. The business meeting to follow will include the report of the treasurer, C. V. Pierce, and the following elections: Two members to the county board of school directors, an auditor for the institute fund and a members of the legislative council.

A report on the "Out of School Youth" training program will be presented by C. F. H. Wuesthoff, county vocational supervisor. Dr. Hoenig, of the dental division of the state department of health, will discuss the district plan for dental work. A representative of the Peterson Method of Penmanship also will speak.

The morning session will close with a talk by Dr. Edgar G. Doudna, of Madison, Wis., on "The Real Business of the Schools."

The afternoon session will open with music by the Youngsville band, led by Byron Swanson. The program will include an address by Dr. Ralph W. Sockman, pastor of Christ church, New York, on "Patrons or Partners," and a talk by Frederic Snyder, Kingston, N. Y., news commentator, on "Our Views and the Hour's News."

MILK INDUSTRY IS DISCUSSED AT DAIRY MEET

Mrs. Mabel E. Dallas, secretary, reports that on Tuesday evening an interested and representative group of members of the Dairymen's League gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Albert Johnson at Sugar Grove fo rtheir monthly meeting.

Director Grout, of Kennedy, N. Y., was present for a fine talk, which was followed by discussion of various topics pertaining to the milk industry. A new and reportedly unsatisfactory amendment, with little raise in price, was presented.

Dissatisfaction was voiced against the new oleomargarine standards of ingredients issued by the federal security administrator. Members alleged that the use of artificial flavoring, which imports to oleomargine a butter tastes, and other flavoring substances, the road was opened to deception and contrary to the purpose of the food and drug act and not an incentive for the dairy industry.

The opinion of all was that the many new regulations governing the dairy business were written by consumers rather than the producers and that the attitude of the department of agriculture should change, that farmers might be on a fair basis with other industries in a great defense program.

After the meeting was adjourned, ice cream and cake were served by the committee.

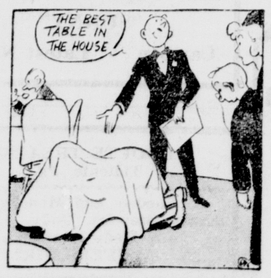

Civil Service Examinations

The U. S. Civil Service Commission announced today that the requirements for the Junior Engineering Aid examination have been amended to permit applicants to qualify if they have successfully completed a course of college level in engineering or in fundamental engineering subjects, aggregating at least 400 hours of study, lecture, or laboratory, sponsored by the U. S. Office of Education under the National Defense Training Program.

Applications may be filed until the close of business on September 25, 1941, with the Manager, Third U. S. Civil Service District, Customhouse, Philadelphia, Pa. Detailed information may be obtained from the Secretary, Board of U. S. Civil Service Examiners, at first-and second-class post offices in Pennsylvania and Delaware; or the Manager, Third U. S. (Ilka Chase, the actress and radio star, is a frequent diner-out. A restaurant proprietor, she reports, served her this story one day with a meal.)

The restaurant was overflowing with patrons and so the late diner, hoping against hope she would get a table, exclaimed to the proprietor:

"My, my, I hope business isn't so good I have to wait."

"Good?" the host replied. "Why we're so crowded that everytime a busboy bends over to pick something up, the headwaiter rushes up and throws a tablecloth and four settings over him."

HIGHER PRICES

Added federal taxes and increased cost of production will be reflected in new liquor prices at state stores after October 1. The new price schedules were completed by the Liquor Control Board Thursday. The list was to become effective Monday, but was held up while the federal levy on whisky was fixed finally in congress at $4 a gallon. It had been $3.

NOT RESTRICTED

It was incorrectly stated in last night's issue that the specialized evening classes to be given in the high school for men and women were restricted to employed persons. The classes, made possible through the cooperation of the Retail Merchandising Committee of the Warren Chamber of Commerce, are not restricted to employed persons and any one desiring to enroll is privileged to do so.

BUSINESS DECLINES

Operating schedules of many major industries in Pittsburgh increased last week, but as the spurt in retail sales so noticeable during August had almost run its course, the University of Pittsburgh business index dropped four points, says an Associated Press dispatch. The index was 147 per cent of the 1923-25 average. Despite the drop, the business level in Pittsburgh was still far higher than at any corresponding period in the past 57 years.

POLIO QUARANTINE

Two cases of infantile paralysis were reported by the Mercer county bureau of health today while another community in Crawford county imposed a 14-day precautionary quarantine after the illness of a one-year-old child had been diagnosed as polio. The Crawford county quarantine action was taken by the board of health at Linesville. At Saegertown, similar quarantine action was taken yesterday following the discovery of a polio case there.

NEW PASTOR AT U. B. CHURCH IS GIVEN WELCOME

A very well attended reception was held last evening in the First Church of the United Brethren in Christ, arranged to welcome the newly-arrived pastor, Rev. W. G. Woodward, who comes from Harris Hill, N. Y., to succeed Rev. C. E. Dibble.

The program opened with a violin prelude played by Jeannette Nelson, accompanied by Edith Shearer, and followed by congregational singing. Devotions were conducted by the class leader, S. B. Caldwell, after which Mrs. M. L. Farnsworth, of Grace Methodist church, gave a reading, "The New Church Organ".

Greetings to the new pastor were extended by the Sunday school superintendent, Lyle Shearer; from the Woman's Missionary Auxiliary by Mrs. Mildred Frantz, and from the Warren County Ministerial Association by Rev. John Bengtson, pastor of Bethlehem Congregational church, and Rev. J. C. Wygant, First Evangelical minister.

Rev. Woodward responded with a sincere expression of thanks and appreciation for the friendliness shown him since his arrival in Warren.

Alice Fehlman, Joyce Callahan and Isabel Shearer were heard as a vocal trio, with accompaniment by Arlene Caldwell, and the following Ladies' Aid Society members were seen in an interesting playlet: Mrs. Evan Callahan, Mrs. S. B. Caldwell, Mrs. Chris Caldwell, Mrs. Harry Nelson and Mrs. Bertha Winner. A song by the Brotherhood closed the program.

An offering was then taken for the Pangborn family at Russell, quarantined because of the illness of two children with infantile paralysis. A substantial purse of money was realized for presentation to the family.

After Rev. Woodward had dismissed the group, a social hour was enjoyed and refreshments were served by Mrs. George Olson and her committee.

START CLASSES IN PINE GROVE SCHOOL MONDAY

After being closed for two weeks because of infantile paralysis in one family, the Pine Grove school at Russell will re-open on Monday morning, it was announced today.

The school at Russell was first closed two weeks ago when Miss Lois Pangborn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Pangborn, was found to be suffering from the disease. She was stricken while working as a dimestic in a Warren family.

Members of the school board decided to open the schools last Monday, but over the week-end Glenn Pangborn, 8-year-old brother of the girl who was first stricken, was found to be suffering from the disease, and the school was kept closed.

Since no other cases have been discovered outside the Pangborn family, it has been decided to open the school on Monday.

DEMOCRATIC

Sheffield, Sept. 20—The first formal event of the general election campaign in Warren county was a largely attended meeting held in the Democratic party's clubroom here last evening at which several speakers discussed issues of the campaign and in particular the importance of electing the right candidate to the office of Judge of the 37th Judicial District, comprising Warren and Forest counties.

The principal speaker was Attorney Harold Hampson, of Warren. Mr. Hampson, prominent Republican who is widely and well known throughout the county and district, told the audience, which was composed largely of Democrats but included also many Republicans, that the right candidate for the judgeship is the one possessing the best qualifications and that that candidate this election is without question Attorney E. H. Beshlin, veteran Warren lawyer who is the Democratic nominee for the judgeship.

Mr. Hampson, who said he has known Mr. Beshlin for 25 years, spoke highly of the nominee's integrity, capability and all-around character.

Other speakers on the program last evening were J. R. "Rusty" Allen, of Warren, Democratic nominee for the office of Register and Recorder, and Attorney C. Henry Nicholson, Democratic county chairman.

The speakers were introduced to the assemblage by M. R. Papavero, of Sheffield, who was in charge of the meeting.

The evening's program included besides the addresses by the speakers some excellent music. Mrs. Margaret Drivas, Warren soprano, favored with three vocal offerings. Mrs. Edith Kuester, also of Warren, played the accompaniments. Miss Mary Konestoba played an accordian solo and later played the piano accompaniments for a duo of saxophone solos played by her sister, Miss Rose Konestoba.

Refreshments consisting of coffee, ice cream and cake were served by the ladies of the Democratic Club during a social hour which followed the formal meeting.

Russell

Russell, Sept. 18—The regular meeting of the Ladies' Aid Society was held at the home of Mrs. Grace Swanson Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock, with Mrs. Ver Milyea presiding. It was decided that the election of officers of the Women's Society Christian Service will be held on the third Wednesday of November, and that the officers of the Ladies' Aid Circle will be elected in December. It was planned to have all persons in the community interested in the church invited to attend a tureen supper next Wednesday evening at 6:30 o'clock. Mrs. Alice Moll, president of the W. S. C. S., was elected to attend the meeting of the society at Oil City Friday. Mrs. Richard Enos was in charge of the study, "A Christian Home in a Changing World," which was followed by a question box. The committee served refreshments. Mrs. George Martin invited the society to meet at her home in October.

There will be no Sunday school or Epworth League services in the Methodist church Sunday, but there will be preaching services at the regular time, eleven o'clock, on next Sunday.

BAND SHELL OR PLATFORM NEEDED

Concerts played this week on the lawn of the Municipal building emphasize again that few towns the size of Warren can boast two such fine musical organizations as the Veterans of Foreign Wars and Warren High School bands. Programs played by the bands on the lawn of the Municipal building were greatly enjoyed by large crowds.

The entertainment provided reminds that one of the pressing needs in the community at the present time is a suitable place where such concerts may be presented with more comfort and pleasure, for both the musicians and the audiences.

A band shell in one of the parks or some other satisfactory place, such as the Beaty playgrounds, has been suggested, but in the absence of such a building, and little possibility of securing one in the near future, another plan proposed by an interested music-lover is that a platform be constructed such as was used by the V. F. W. band some ten years ago for neighborhood concerts be secured.

Such a platform should be provided with equipment that would furnish proper lighting for the musicians, which is another very objectionable feature of the present arrangement.

One of the major projects for Warren during the coming year, along with a swiming pool, should be the erection of a shell or platform, for our two very popular and entertaining bands.

Speaking of entertainment projects, playgoers should remember that the opportunity for securing a Warren Concert Association membership will end tonight at nine o'clock. Three excellent numbers have been secured for the season which are sufficiently varied to suit every musical desire.

That tragedy over near Custer City yesterday emphasizes the danger that besets the people of the community every time a nitro-glycerine truck drives over the streets of the borough.

While on the subject of music, it is well to remember that there is no better place to go to enjoy it than in church.

But as many as received him, to them gave he power to become sons of God, even to them that believe on his name.—John 1:12.

When a weary traveler has lost his way, what joy must the sight of a directory afford him. How must his joy be increased if it informs him that he is near a dear friend's house who will kindly receive him. Are we not travelers along the way of life and also yearn for a way that will bring us quietude, assurance and peace? Man became lost in Paradise by receiving a gift from Satan. So in the search for certainty of life, for protection of all the ravaging influences of life, man has sought constantly within himself to find an answer for this certainty. But to what avail? To widen the illustration, we may say man is in a dense forest, lost among the giant trees that stand idly still and offer no assistance. Animals in this huge forest only create within the heart of such a man fear and anger at his own plight. Oh, if a man but had an instrument to show him the way. If some one would only take the lost victim by the hand and lead him to the green valleys that surround the forest.

Satan has man in his grip. The huge forest of the world is only the device of the evil one. However, when the gospel—the gift of God—comes to man, it is as a compass unto man to escape from the terrible agonies of the power of Satan.

Nevertheless, let us examine how man has declined the very gift of God—the way out, as it may be said. As Paul preached in Athens, the retort came, "And when they heard of the resurrection of the dead, some mocked; and others said, We will hear thee again of this matter."

The Savior of the world, while He hung on the cross between two thieves, said to one of these, the one who acknowledged Him—but better still the one whose heart had been touched by God—"Today shalt thou be with me in Paradise." What a message! This is indeed the gospel. This is the good news of forgiveness and salvation. This man knew then that not only with the gospel came condemnation, especially for those who reject the Word, but there came with it a great gift—eternal life.

We learn, then, that man may receive forgiveness on his death bed, but this should not be taken as a universal law. Accordingly we read in the scriptures: "For he saith, I have heard thee in a time accepted, and in the day of salvation have I succored thee; behold, now is the accepted time, behold, now is the day of salvation."

Today if we hear these words, "But as many as received him, to them gave he power to become sons of God, even to them that believe on his name," and receive Him as the Christ, the Savior, we will not only assent to His graciousness, but hope and pray that He will grip our hearts with His living spirit. There is no condemnation in belief; however, the greater joy is that the weary man receives a promise—power to become sons of God. God bestows upon the Christian His heavenly honor. He gives us the right, even more the privilege, of enjoying the comfort and blessing of being the adopted sons of God. The riches of the new covenant, grace and love, are ours. What a miracle of mercy is this! Of the children of wrath and heirs of hell, Christ makes us sons of God and heirs of heaven!

Let no man deceive you with vain words: for because of these things cometh the wrath of God upon the children of disobedience.—Ephesians 5:6.

• EDSON'S WASHINGTON COLUMN

BY PETER EDSON
Warren Times-Mirror Washington Correspondent

Washington, Sept. 20—The little daisy tax bill of 1941 having now become a law, all the Internal Revenue Department has to do is figure out its own ways and means for collecting the dough. People keep calling it the $3.5 billion tax bill, but that's not doing it full justice. Three and a half billion is just the estimated increase in taxes over last year. What this jim dandy mother's comfort should be known as is the $13.9 billion tax bill, for nearly all of last year's taxes are repassed in this new family treasure, and the total estimated yield of old and new taxes is $13.9 billion. Or, if you want to get reckless the way Congress does every now and then and appropriate another $100 million out of your sock just to get a round number, call it a $14 billion pet, and let it go at that.

Anyway, the precious thing has been five months in the making. The House Ways and Means Committee began its hearings April 17. It presented the draft of its bill to the full House three months later. It was passed by the House and sent to the Senate on Aug. 5. The Senate Committee on Finance then held its own hearings, and was ready to report a revised version of the bill Sept. 2. Then two weeks more were required for the Senate to pass the bill, send it back to the House for conference, and get final passage.

But when it comes to putting one of these sweet patooties into effect, don't think for a minute that there will be five months' delay. Oh, no. The first income taxes under the new and greatly increased rates won't be collectible till March 15, 1942, or about six months off, but the tax collector men will begin putting the touch on you for all those nuisances and excise taxes beginning Oct. 1. And that's where the headaches of the internal revenue collectors begin. They're all sitting up nights, now, figuring how they're going to apply the knife for that extra pound of defense tax flesh.

Some of the new excise taxes the internal revenue collectors have had past experience with, so they know how to go about setting up machinery to make those collections. Jewelry and furs for instance. They have been taxed before though not in recent years. Collecting those retailers' taxes is comparatively easy.

Amusement taxes on theatres, cabarets and the like are merely hiked, so there is no particular problem there. That goes for the increased liquor, radio set, automobile and similar taxes.

Where the real grief comes in is in collecting some of the new manufacturers' excise taxes. Matches, musical instruments, sporting goods, luggage, electric signs, business and store machines, rubber articles, optical equipment and electric light bulbs. None of those have been taxed before, and procedure must be worked out to keep books and collect the taxes at the establishments of all manufacturers and importers. All these will be hidden taxes. The wholesaler and the retailer and the consumer won't be conscious of paying a tax on these items, though the new taxes on them can only mean that the prices will be increased. If this tax is pyramided through the wholesale and retail establishments, it can only mean increased cost of living.

The other thing it means is that the Internal Revenue Department must hire more men and increase its cost of tax collecting machinery. To collect the federal internal revenue in the fiscal year ending June 30, 1941, took the services of 28,585 federal employes, and the total cost of collecting the federal taxes was $65,063,723. That was an up of more than 6100 employes and an up of $5 million in the costs of collection over the previous year ending June 30, 1940, when the total tax collections were $5.34

Honor 100th Anniversary Of First Postage Stamp

CUBA has issued a five-in-one stamp in commemoration of the 100th anniversary of the first postage stamp. It contains about everything that can be crowded into one issue. Besides picturing the first stamps of Great Britain, Spain and Cuba and a map of Cuba, it also bears a portrait of Sir Rowland Hill, "father of the postage stamp."

Hill was an educator but he is best known to philately for his postal reforms, which won him a government post.

The island of Cuba was discovered by Columbus, Oct. 28, 1492. With the exception of one year (1762-3) it remained a Spanish colony until 1898. Under the terms of the Treaty of Paris the United States gave up armed intervention. A republican form of government was assumed in 1900.

In 1936 the United States relinquished its right to intervene in Cuba's internal affairs under the Platt Amendment.

Col. Fulgencio Batista was elected president July 15, 1940, as the candidate of the Socialist-Democratic coalition.

Man About Manhattan

By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—Tim Ford is a man who thinks in terms of leisure afloat. His idea of leisure is to have a few nice books and a stove that will keep a cabin warm, and a few fishhooks and lines within easy reach, and also a bottle of rye to knock off the chills. His definition of "afloat" is a barge he owns that is hitched, or rather was hitched, to a slip in the Hudson River. He bought her at auction, moved aboard with his belongings, and spent about three years making her into his idea of what a houseboat should be.

The other day—the very day Tim put the finishing trim to his little floating "palace"—he got into a rowboat and sallied up the river to do a little fishing. He was gone several hours—just long enough for the old tub to sink. His palace is now in 20 feet of water and Tim is bunking with friends. Disheartened? Not yet, in any case. "Well, that was a good experience. Next time I'll really know how to fix up a houseboat."

ROBBIN COONS, from his point of vantage on the coast, writes that Humphrey Bogart is the first actor on record to have a movie title drop—but hard—on his foot. The title character of "The Maltese Falcon" is a heavy statue cast in lead. Lee Patrick was supposed to hand the statue to Bogart but it slipped through her grasp and came down on Bogie's toe. For a few moments, they say, the air was blue.

Walter Pigeon is one actor who dreads to see himself on the screen. "After the film is shot," he says, "there isn't anything you can do to improve your performance." . . . On one occasion, he remarked, there was another actor with a similar dread of viewing himself on the screen So this chap handed a pair of tickets for a screening to a carpenter who was building him a new house. . . . Next week, the carpenter submitted a bill with the item, "To Overtime, Looking at Picture, $3.50." . . . Maybe that carpenter was something of a critic.

IN KAY KYSER'S new picture, "Playmates," John Barrymore plays the part of John Barrymore. Other players who play themselves in current movies are Billy Conn, the fighter, in "The Pittsburgh Kid;" and W. C. Fields in "The Great Man."

Do child actors miss out on their schooling? . . . Well, Jane Withers is two years ahead of herself in math . . . Joan Crawford is in town and says she is serious in her intentions to find a good play for the Broadway stage.

I had an unexpected thrill after a plane ride the other day. We were supposed to land at La Guardia field but a violent storm came up and we had to make an emergency landing at Floyd Bennett field. While coming down I noticed that a couple of trucks raced out near the landing runways. . . . After we were down, those "trucks" turned out to be ambulances . . . "Well, you never know," said a sailor who was standing there. . . . "We had 'em ready—just in case."

St. Luke's Episcopal, Kinzua
15th Sunday after Trinity, September 21, 1941. 10:00 a. m. church school and Bible class; 8:00 p. m. evening prayer and sermon by the Rev. E. P. Wroth, rector.

"Today America prepares swiftly for defense,," says Bishop Tucker, head of the Episcopal Church. "The parish church, right at our doorstep, is one of the nation's great defense centers: an Arsenal of Christianity. After the present struggle, a lasting peace can be built only upon sturdy Christian principles. Every Christian can play his part in strengthening this Arsenal, through regular worship, work, prayer and giving."

This newspaper takes pleasure in printing below the names of the concerns which make it possible to give publicity to the church activities and the preaching of the word on the Sabbath Day.

First Church of Christ, Scientist
312 Market St.
Sunday service 10:45 a. m. Sunday school at 12 o'clock. Wednesday evening meeting at 8 o'clock. "Matter" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, September 21. The Golden Text is: "Love not the world, neither the things that are in the world" (I John 2:15). Among Bible citations comprising the Lesson-Sermon is the following: "For we know that if our earthly house of this tabernacle were dissolved, we have a building of God, an house not made with hands, eternal in the heavens" (II Corinthians 5:1, 2, 4, 5). The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Matter is neither self-existent nor a product of Spirit. An image of mortal thought, reflected on the retina, is all that the eye beholds. Take away so-called mortal mind, which constitutes matter's supposed selfhood, and matter can take no cognizance of matter" (p. 479).

Salem Evangelical

billion. You can easily expect, therefore, that the costs of collecting the new $13.9 or $14 billion tax bill will run proportionately.

One of the big increases in tax collecting costs will come from the lowering of the personal exemptions. When the exemptions were lowered last year, from $1000 to $800 for single persons, and from $2500 to $2000 for married persons, internal revenue had to add 2000 field employes to make the collections from the new taxpayers. Now, with the exemptions lowered again for next year to $750 and $1500, there will be nearly five million more returns filed, bringing the total number of actual income taxpayers to approximately 13 million, or about one federal income taxpayer to every 10 people.

For the past two years, the average cost to the federal government in collecting each $100 in taxes has been $1.12. If that figure holds good for the coming fiscal year, and it may be lower, the cost of collecting this $14 billion in prospective taxes will be more than $150 million. That's equal to two new cruisers, right there.

DOCTOR SHORTAGE
In Germany, there now is only one doctor for every 3000 civilians, because 10,000 Jews have been removed from the list, and many physicians were called up for military work.

Fine Missionary Speaker Secured for Annual Banquet of Three First Presbyterian Units

Mrs. W. Plumer Mills, Presbyterian missionary home on furlough from her work in Nanking, China, will be the guest speaker for the 16th annual banquet of the three missionary units of the First Presbyterian church.

This banquet will be held in conjunction with the meeting of the Presbyterial on Friday evening, September 26, in the church dining room.

Mrs. Mills first went to China in 1912, when her husband served there as a Y. M. C. A. secretary. In 1932, both were appointed to that field by the board of foreign missions of the Presbyterian Church and have been stationed there since.

When the invasion came in 1937, Mr. Mills remained but his wife and small daughter went to Shanghai until it was safe for them to return. She has a wide range of acquaintance not only with the former capital city, Nanking, but in several other parts of China, and with considerable experience in war and peace in this region which has been for so many years a center of Chinese political and cultural life.

Her talk is most timely and should be of much interest to the women of the community. She will speak in Oil City on Thursday and will go from here to Bradford, her itinerary taking her to many points in this part of the state during the month of September.

Reservations for the banquet must be made no later than Tuesday with Myrta Hill, general chairman, who may be reached by calling 1429-R.

The banquet will be served at 6:15 o'clock in the dining room, followed by the meeting in the Sunday school rooms at eight o'clock.

Mrs. J. H. Cruickshank is president of the Presbyterial unit, which comprises Warren, North Warren, Sugar Grove and Irvine. Presidents of the three missionary groups sponsoring the banquet are Mrs. George Harsh for the Lotta Dunham Auxiliary, Mrs. W. R. Carlin for the Second Auxiliary, and Mrs. J. H. McBride for the Arbutus Auxiliary.

TRICKY DISCARD STEALS CONTRACT IN AMATEUR PLAY

By WILLIAM E. McKENNEY
America's Card Authority

Most experienced duplicate players consider the team-of-four contest the most interesting form of tournament bridge. The only difficulty lies in getting four people who want to play together on a team. Every bridge player has three ratings—what he thinks of himself, what others think of him and how well he actually does play. Finding four people who agree their play is of about the same caliber is what holds up the popularity of team-of-four bridge. Interest in these contests, however, is increasing each year.

The amateur team-of-four at Asbury Park this year was won by Mrs. and Mrs. William Cheeks of Washington, D. C., Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Wallendorf of Coral Gables, Fla., and Mrs. H. L. Zacks, of New York, a five-player team. The runners-up were Mrs. E. M. Goddard of Asbury Park, N. J., Mrs. H. A. Steiner of Deal, N. J., Mrs. Barney Lavine of Trenton, N. J., and Maurice Levin of Newark, N. J.

Mrs. Wallendorf is a clever player, apt to fool you if you are not careful. Today's hand demonstrates her skill. After taking the ace of hearts, West continued with the queen. Dummy played the king and Mrs. Wallendorf (South) discarded the deuce of diamonds.

This was a tricky discard. Declarer saw she could discard the five of clubs, whereupon game is probably easy if the diamond finesse wins. But Mrs. Wallendorf thought from the bidding that West must hold the king of diamonds. Her discard was made in the hope of inducing West later to lead a diamond. Then the club finesse would have to be won, but this looked like a better chance.

West fell for the bait. When he was in with the ace of spades, he led a low diamond. That gave Mrs. Wallendorf the game.

TIMES TOPICS

OIL MAN STRICKEN

Victim of a stroke, Thomas A. Anderton, 56, president of the Continental Refining Company at Oil City, was found dead in the garage at his home late yesterday. Coroner S. G. Foster, of Venango county, said Anderton had fallen down a flight of stairs in the garage after he was stricken. The refining company has been in the hands of the Anderton family since 1885. Survivors include his wife and 10 children. Funeral services will be held Tuesday.

CIVIC CLUB

A special meeting of the North Warren Civic Club will be held Monday evening at eight o'clock sharp in the North Warren Community House, it was announced today. At this meeting plans will be completed for the annual Hallowe'en celebration. The entertainment committee has secured William E. Yeager, of Warren, to show pictures of his recent western trip. Refreshments will be served.

PLAN HOMECOMING

According to word received here from Farrandsville in Clinton county, a special homecoming observance has been planned for Sunday, September 28, when former residents will gather at the People's church for religious services at 10 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. and for an informal program at two in the afternoon. Old-timers will relate their experiences in Farrandsville in days gone by and dinner and supper will be served by the committee.

Gerald and Sherwood Beck, of Erie, spent Sunday at their respective homes here.

Mrs. Leona Lindstrom, of Frewsburg, spent last week with her sister, Mrs. Ruth Swanson.

Mrs. Merril Livesey has resumed teaching in the High school at Kinzua.

Mr. and Mrs. George Mahan and daughter Joan were dinner guests of Mrs. Blanche Pickard in Jamestown, N. Y., on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Nelson spent Wed., Thurs. and Saturday at the Methodist conference in Meadville. Miss Mae Bishop and Mrs. Helen Samuelson attended on Saturday.

Miss Elsie Anderson, of Jamestown, spent a few days last week with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. William Arnwall.

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Putnam, Herbert Putnam Sr., Mr. and Mrs. Harry Kays, Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Nelson, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Putnam and two sons, acompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Allen Hayes of Lakewood, N. Y., and Miss Cecelia Dickens and Richard Nelson, of Sharon spent Sunday with Marion and Maude Ripley on Chautauqua Lake.

George Weiss, of Portland, Ore., called on old friends last week. He also visited the Thompson Hill school, of which Miss Laura Deming is now teacher. Mr. Weiss taught this school forty-nine years ago, at which time he related that he received $1.50 per day and paid the same for his board.

Menus of the Day

Menu For 7 Or 8

Grapefruit-Avocado Cocktail
French Dressing
Salmon Mold
Cabbage Relish in Lemon Cups
Buttered Asparagus
Cheese Roll Ups Currant Jam
Fresh Fruit
Coffee

Salmon Mold

4 tablespoons butter
6 tablespoons flour
2 cups milk
½ cup soft bread crumbs
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon paprika
2 tablespoons chopped sweet pickles
1 tablespoon minced parsley
2 cups salmon (canned or boiled)
3 egg yolks
3 egg whites, beaten

Melt butter and add flour. Pour in milk and cook slowly, stirring constantly until creamy sauce forms. Add crumbs, seasonings, salmon and yolks. Lightly fold in whites and pour into buttered ring or loaf mold. Bake 60 minutes in pan hot water in moderately slow oven (325). Unmold carefully and surround with lemon cups filled with cabbage relish salad.

Cheese Roll Ups

3 cups pastry flour
6 teaspoons baking powder
⅔ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon celery salt
4 tablespoons fat
1 cup (about) milk
⅔ cup grated sharp cheese
3 tablespoons butter

Mix flour, baking powder salt and celery salt. Cut in fat and add enough milk to make soft dough. Roll or pat it out until ¼ inch thick. Spread with cheese and butter and quickly roll up. Cut off ½ inch slices. Pinch edges together to keep in cheese and bake, flat, on shallow pan eight minutes in moderate oven. Serve warm.

These are delicious served with soups and salads as well as the main course of a meal.

For the Well-Dressed Woman

Soft dark color a-plenty for daytime clothes and the natural-looking silhouette stressing the American woman's good figure are news in the current showings of American collections. And these two style points are exemplified here. Jay Thorpe designed the julep green cress, left, draping the material from the back to form a simulated front peplum. The blue wool and velveteen two-piece dress shown at right is designed by Bergdorf-Goodman. Its peplum ripples smartly forward, but fit is emphasized, nevertheless. The hat is mustard-green with brilliant red, gold and blue feathers. The furs, shown here as a muff, unsnap to form a stole.

FOR THE LOVE OF PAM

By VIVIEN GREY

Chapter 11

Over-night Guest

FREDA was smiling, but there was a note in her voice that was far from laughter. For the first time Pam felt she could believe; that Freda was sincere with her. Then Freda was talking again:

"You see I wasn't as fried as I seemed when you came out and saw us in your flower beds."

"Fried?" Pam was puzzled. The vernacular of drinking was foreign language to her.

"Yes, sweet child, fried. Saturated. Spiffed. Or just plain intoxicated, if you'd rather. Only I wasn't, you see. I hadn't been drinking at all, but it suited me to have the handsome Jerry think I was helpless."

Freda was leaning forward a little and talking with sudden earnestness. "I heard everything, Pam. Just how sweet you were to me. I wouldn't have been that way to you. I want you to know that. It's only fair. I couldn't have been as big and fine as you've been. I fight for what I want in all the small ways a woman knows. I've never wanted anything as you want Jerry. If I had, I'd have been poisonous. I'd never have insisted that you be brought into my house, had things been reversed. I'm not made of that kind of stuff. And I'm surprising myself in wanting you to have Jerry."

"But that was nothing," Pam said quietly. "Anyone would have done what I did."

"That's what you think. Really it was heroic, Pam. Not one girl in my crowd would have done that. Not one. From now on I'm with you, Pam!"

"Thanks," Pam said in a very small voice. She was still hurt and stunned by the events and revelations of the night. "You will stay here?" she asked. "It's too late for you to go out alone."

"Yes, I will," Freda said with the quick decision of her sort. "Mother would scalp me if I came in at this hour. So show me a bed. I'll phone the hotel in the morning to tell her I've stayed with friends."

Pam took her upstairs to a room that was a revelation of simple beauty. There was an old teakwood bed that had once been part of a ship that had sailed the early seas. There was a little round table that had been made to take a ship's roll. There were old and rare bits of bric-a-brac.

Freda fell asleep almost as soon as Pam's soft footfalls left her room. Not Pam, however. She stood at her window, looking out into the star-swept early morning sky. The sweet heavy scent of the blooms of the orchid tree lay on the soft air. There were the low, vague sounds of tropic dawn—palm trees rustling, the sharp crack of the fruit of the sandbox tree exploding.

Pam turned finally to her own bed with its quaint patchwork quilt. She was more tired than she had realized. Sleep closed her eyes to the slowly waking world just as a shower dropped suddenly from the sky. One of those strangely tropical things—rain that comes swiftly and without warning from a suddenly clouding sky, and then stops just as quickly, leaving in its wake an incomparable freshness of atmosphere that is weighted with the pleasant scents of earth and flowers.

There was only a note in Freda's room when Pam went there. Pam read the large, flamboyant writing so characteristic of the girl:

"Thanks for everything. I still mean what I said last night."

Strange Music

DUVAL Street in Key West runs east and west, straight across the island. Near the west end, not far from the red brick building that houses the bank and not far from the dock where vessels from foreign ports tie up, is a hall that is rented upon occasion for band practice.

Not far from the hall, across a vacant lot, is an empty house sagging under the weight of a vine that blooms with an odorless brown flower that is dry and, to all appearances, lifeless even as its bud unfurls. It has a strange, luring sort of beauty that is changeless even after the dust of years has coated it. "Rose of Hell," they call it in Key West. Or by the less gusty souls, it is named "Wood Rose."

Two middle-aged tourists had stopped to admire the strange flower. The woman turned suddenly, her plain face lifted as if listening to some celestial strain.

"Tom! That music! And someone singing! I've never heard anything like it."

They stood entranced, the roses that never bear any fragrance, forgotten.

Edmund Antoine had arisen early and strolled to the docks. He had been watching the water, mysterious opal under a sky that was momentarily crowded with vagrant clouds; then turquoise and emerald, as the clouds scuttled away before the march of a warm, triumphant sun.

Antoine turned finally and walked along Duval Street. Just opposite the two tourists he stopped, held to the spot by a harmony of sound issuing from the hall. Two voices were blending in a sort of melodic unity that was more than singing together.

Antoine, with his sensitive ear trained to catch every nuance, every imperfection of measure and beat, had the look of a man who has just made an important discovery. He turned suddenly and went into the hall, realizing only then that the girl's voice was familiar.

In the hall Lenore stood close to Vincenzo Barolli, her singing lips uplifted slightly to his. His voice, as he looked down at her, poured from his throat like sunlit water flowing over a bed of velvety moss. Antoine was struck by something in their voices and their faces. He remembered seeing Barolli at the window while Lenore sang at his party at Pena's, sang with that odd brightness in her eyes that could have been tears.

Many things came back to him as he watched and listened. Barolli on the beach in casual conversation with Lenore. Barolli and Lenore at that little stand at the other end of Duval Street, where they sold that peculiarly tropic delicacy, sour-sop ice cream; talking interestedly over two dishes of the sweet with its strange, half sour, musky flavor. Lenore and Barolli sitting close on the steps of the cabana at Rest Beach where a white oleander bush grew out of the sand.

Barolli glanced at Antoine then and took up the baton, giving the boys the down beat, going through the number again without the voices. It was Barolli's orchestra, then, Lenore walked toward Antoine.

"You've caught me, Eddie," she said.

"Doing a very creditable job," was his answer in a preoccupied tone. Lenore sensed that he wanted to give Barolli and his music undivided attention, and said nothing more.

A New Lenore

AS HE crashed into a finale that softened gradually until it was only a whisper. Barolli turned to Antoine and held out the baton.

"My name is Barolli," he said. "Give my boys a whirl. See how they follow." It was evident he was proud of his collection of young musicians, their dark, sensitive countenances testifying visibly of their Cuban heritage. There was an eagerness in their faces as they turned to Antoine.

"And this is Edmund Antoine, Vin," Lenore said. "He's maestro at the hotel."

"Yes, I know," returned Barolli.

"You've evidently done some fine selecting and training here, Barolli," Antoine said. "I didn't suppose the island would produce this sort of stuff."

"Oh, yes. They're born musicians. They are so grateful for a chance to let it out."

"They should have plenty of chance," Antoine turned then to the musicians. He looked them over calmly, seemed to be taking stock of them. The music on the racks was the old number Fritzi Scheff made famous: "Kiss Me Again." Antoine gave the boys a quick down beat.

Lenore and Vincent took up the words. Their voices soared, died to a tender pianissimo, and soared again. People passing on the street stopped to listen.

Barolli's smile, when he turned to Antoine as they finished, covered a riotous welling of emotion. He had been singing beside beautiful Lenore Winthrope, his voice blending with hers, and his boys had played as they never had before. It was almost too much for one day.

"You do with them what I never can," he said.

"No"—Antoine was quick to give credit where it was due—"all you need is a little time. Come around some morning. I'd like to have a talk with you. I've got to push along now. We play for lunch today."

"Edmund, I'm going your way. Let me drive you," Lenore offered quickly. And then, as Antoine suspected, after they had settled in Lenore's car, Lenore wanted to talk.

"Eddie, you won't say anything to Adele, will you? I mean about my being there with Vin? She and Father would just die if they knew. Of course it's not serious, I mean with Vin. It's just my art, my singing. And Gervase is coming down with Father any time now. I just don't want anything unpleasant. You see they wouldn't understand."

"But I understand, Lenore," Antoine said seriously, wishing to set her fears at rest. "I won't mention anything to your mother or father or your handsome Count Gervase de Bellefort—though I hate to see you throw yourself away on that effete gentleman!" He laughed a little on the last. "You know Barolli really has got something."

"Oh, Eddie, do you think so, really?" Her eagerness was slightly surprising to Antoine.

When they reached Casa Marina Antoine dropped down on a bench for the few moments he still had left, and watched Lenore go into the hotel.

He wasn't so sure it was all just her art that took her to that barren hall to practice with Barolli. He had seen her face as she stood beside Barolli lifting her voice with his in song. Lenore hadn't realized how much was written there.

The Red Jackets go after their second conquest tomorrow afternoon on Russell Field with the kickoff for their battle against the Pace Athletic Club slated for 2:30 o'clock, and the local lineup promises to show fans a smoother type of football than that seen last week in the opening game of the campaign for which they had a license to look a little ragged.

But with material that is shaping into a good team and what may be a great team, though the holes in the forward wall left by Lukas, Rossman, Zerbe and Parslite of last year's aggregation made a hard job for Coaches Reese and Paris to find men with which to fill in capably, the Jackets should really get their grid machine rolling in high gear against "Whitey" Fowle's organization.

The contest promises to be a hard fought fracas, and the visitors aren't coming to Warren with the idea of giving anything away for nothing. But with a fairly sound ground attack and an aerial offensive that's dangerous if it gets under way, the locals can make any afternoon unpleasant for most teams, and hope to do so tomorrow.

Both teams will lineup evenly in regard to weight, the invaders boasting one of the largest forward walls in this section of the state, and a speedy backfield that ranges in weight on a scale with that of Warren's runners.

Having last year turned in a record of eight victories, one tie and a loss, the Pacers guarantee that they'll present a worthwhile program before the many district followers of the Jackets. Last year's tie was a scoreless battle with the strong Trafford Alumni, a team edged by the champs at Russell Field 7-0 in one of the closest games recorded on Jacket books last year. The Pace A. C. defeated the highly touted Stowe-Rox Cadets, formerly the Rox Rooneys, with whom the Jackets have tangled in recent years in a merry little series that never saw either team hold much of an edge on their opponent.

With interest growing and local semi-pro fans steadily getting the football fever, tomorrow's fracas is expected to outdraw last week's opener against Homewood, with a forecasted crowd of around 1600 expected to pass through the turnstiles at popular prices.

Robinson Now Ready For Shot at Crown

New York, Sept. 20.—(AP)—Ray Robinson, the lanky New York Negro who has been regarded for several months as the most promising young fighter in the lightweight division, apparently is ready for his title shot as soon as they get an undisputed title for him to shoot at.

Robinson turned pro last October, and in his first 23 professional bouts scored 19 knockouts and won four decisions. Among others, he licked Sammy Angott, the N. B. A. champion, in an overweight bout. But there still was a question as to whether he could go in there with Lew Jenkins, recognized in New York as 135-pound boss.

Last night Ray faced canny Maxie Shapiro of New York, who was good enough a few years back to hang up a record of 37 fights without a loss. It took Robinson just three rounds, Referee Arthur Donovan finally stopping the affair after Maxie had been down twice in the second round and three times in the third.

City Loop Opens Tuesday Evening

The City League schedule for their opening night next Tuesday was announced today along with team rosters by President Myron "Chick" Check, and one of the fastest loops in years is expected to be the outcome of this season's race.

The Busy Bees roll against the Warren Baking Company on alleys one and two and McCabe's Restaurant faces the B & B Smoke Shop on three and four at seven o'clock.

At nine o'clock the slate reads: Texas Lunch vs. Darling Jewelry, 1-2; V. F. W. vs. Recreation Center, 3-4.

Team rosters are as follows:

Texas Lunch—R. Check, Lundquist, Smith, Hultman, M. Check; McCabe's—McLean, Bleech, Christensen, Klein, Hagberg; B & B Smoke Shop—Ritchie, Lord, H. Wooster, Baldensperger, Cosmano; Darling Jewelry—Graebner, Malone, Carlson, Bjers, Ruggaber; Busy Bee—Juliano, Willard, Waples, V. Juliano, Miller; Warren Baking Co.—Anderson, Minelli, N. Wooster, Randinelli, Gelotte; 3-G Oil—Lynch, W. Hoagvall, E. Hoagvall, Grosch, Cashman; V. F. W. Post 631—Weidert, M. Johnson, Stanton, Rossell, Simmonsen.

Last Night's Bouts

New York—Ray Robinson, 135¼, New York, stopped Maxie Shapiro, 133¾, New York (3).
Steve Belloise, 154½, New York, and Antonio Fernandez, 150½, Chile, drew (8).
Beau Jack, 134, Augusta, Ga., stopped Al Reid, 130½, New York (7).
Akron, Ohio—Sammy Angott, 138, Washington, Pa., knocked out Lee Sheppard, 140, Cleveland, Ohio (1).
San Francisco—Ray Lunny, 133, San Francisco, knocked out Honey Mellody, 135, Boston (1).

Montreal 6, Newark 4 (Montreal leads best-of-seven series, 2-1).

American Association (Finals)
Columbus 8, Louisville 1 (Columbus leads best-of-seven series, 1-0).

NO DENIAL THAT YANKS ARE GREAT; SOUNDEST CLUB IN BASEBALL TODAY

Let's take our mind off tomorrow's Red Jacket football game, and all other sports in general, forget about the sweltering National loop pennant scramble, and talk about the greatest club in baseball today, heavy favorites to beat whatever opponent they meet for another World Series title, the New York Yankees. Year after year the Yankees uncover rookie after rookie who skyrockets into the sportlight and soon becomes one of the most famous players in baseball. And annually Joe McCarthy's Brutal Bombers are reckoned with as the outstanding threat in the junior circuit. Three years ago up shot Joe Gordon, now hailed as one of the finest second basemen in the majors, and the capable guardian of the keystone sack is plenty good in every department. Not too long ago Joltin' Joe DiMaggio was ushered into the lineup and that was never regarded as a mistake. Now this year along came Rizzuto and Priddy, and the former star, who has become the leading Yankee shortstop, is hailed as the King of Queens because of his value to the Bronx Baseball Barons. Moreover, only the great DiMag is outhitting him on the pennant-winning club, and Ruzzuto's bat may swing decisively come time for the championship to be decided.

From bat boy to president, the Yanks are sound as rock, and not the least of these departments is Coach Art Fletcher, famous third base traffic officer who gives Yankee runners either the red or green light, and with exceptional accuracy that accounts for several additional and important runs in a season. Many times a candidate for managerial posts, Fletcher has turned them down, other than his 1923-26 stay with the Phillies, and is satisfied to coach and play No. 2 man on the New York club. Besides being one of the greatest coaches in baseball, Fletcher holds a record of his own for drawing the most World Series bonuses, eleven of them so far and he's up for his twelfth. He's deposited over 50,000 shuckles from series checks in the years of 1911-12-13-17 and 1927-28-32-36-37-38-39. Lefty Gomez, who staged a comeback to once again rein as one of the best pitchers the Yanks ever had, was nearly a gift to the Dodgers after the 1940 season, but Ed Barrow kept him, after furiously refusing the Flatbush Wonders their request to try him out and keep him if Gomez was satisfactory. That's probably the closest the Bombers ever came to making a mistake, and the light-hearted Gomez, who has never lost a series game and has won six, as many as any other pitcher and more successively than any other tosser, plans to pay Barrow back by copping at least another championship game against either the Cards or Brooks when the fur flies in October.

Just off the grid-dle . . . Aside to J. S. . . . Now you are talking sense, pal, but don't expect an easy program next year or the next against Warren's Dragons, because, as we told you earlier this week, the material is there and developing it is all that's needed to make Warren one of the strongest grid combinations in this district . . . As if they haven't been for a majority of their historic years, anyhow . . . That Recreation Center banquet was complete and tops, in this scribe's opinion . . . Boy, for dinners and waitresses like that we'll print those box scores in red ink . . . The Red Jackets will rein as slight favorites in tomorrow's clash, but don't expect the score to add up in cut time . . . We wouldn't be surprised if they take to the air, but definitely, to trip the Pace A. C., and even that is no easy proposition . . . Jack Dempsey recently endorsed circus life thus: "This circus life is grand. I love it—short hours, lot of traveling. See a lot of people. I like people." . . . And the former heavy king traveled under the big top in his younger days, incidentally.

Sports Round-up

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

New York, Sept. 20.—(The Special News Service)—Here's football—so soon—to take the headlines away from the pennant race for a day or two . . . . And if all those tales from South Carolina are true it may be quite a send-off for the season when Tennessee runs into Furman . . . We've been hearing for weeks that Dizzy McLeod's boys really intend to knock off those vols, and with backs like Shanghai Barnett, Dewey Proctor and Skeeter Coyle, and Billy Seel (who's supposed to be the fastest end in the southern conference) they might even do it . . . . Only other major game is N. C. State vs. Richmond and the Wolfpack figures to get a running start in the conference . . . . Not many big teams playing outside the south, but you might take a look at what Portland U. does on the west coast . . . Tip is out that they are going to make a splash this year and cut into conference prestige . . . Boston College and Duquesne are the east's early starters and they'll be hard to catch . . . We look for Navy to spring a few surprises this year after what the Tars did to Georgetown in a private scrimmage the other day . . . They say that Bill Busik really can pass . . . But don't forget what the Scouts reported last year—that the East's best teams were B. C., Cornell and the Colgate freshmen.

Pennant Progress Report

Seems the Cards can bust into the headlines only when the Dodgers aren't playing, but all they do is win ball games . . . Most colorful guy around Sportsman's Park is old Diz Dean, the broadcaster . . . They say he's added at least two dozen new words to the dictionary, such as "the players are goin' back to their respectable positions." . . . If Johnny Mize stays out for long it may hurt St. Louis more than that time game with the Giants which looks big enough today to decide the race . . . N. Y. papers rewarded the reporters who made the western trip with the Giants by sending them on to cover the finish at St. Looey . . . They report the Cards still are in two slumps—hitting and attendance . . . Only eight hits yesterday and three of them by Stan Musial, who isn't eligible for the world series . . . And the crowd only 3,300 while the Dodgers' show today in Philly was sold out in advance . . . By the way, what's become of the Yanks? . . . They were 20 games ahead when they clinched the pennant, now it's only 18 . . . They've got a flock of records waiting 'round the corner that get most of the attention now . . . Best news is that the cast is off Charley Keller's ankle and he may get into the series.

Today's Guest Star

D. T. Caywood, Frankfort (Ky) State Journal: "I notice where a syndicate headed by John B. Kelly is ready to offer $500,000 for the National League franchise of the Philadelphia Phillies. While Nick Etten is quite a ball player in my estimation, isn't that a little steep for one man?"

Service Dept.

Lieut. James D. Robinson, who landed a blazing plane safely during the maneuvers in Louisiana, is the same guy who used to play football, basketball and baseball for Rhode Island State . . . Bob Smith, former Peoria High School twirler, reports he fanned Hank Greenberg the first time he faced Hank in a pickup game in camp but he never could get him out again . . . Ben Sheridan, one of Notre Dame's noted S-men, is coaching football at Fort Riley, Kans . . . Standouts on the Jefferson Barracks (Mo) grid squad are Bob Cone of Wisconsin and Abe Palmer, from Vanderbilt and Southwestern U. . . . They shouldn't have much trouble operating behind a 200-pound line . . . Lefty Pressman, who pitched for the Norfolk Piedmont Leaguers before Uncle Sam took him, tossed a four-hitter yesterday for Camp Upton against the N. Y. Daily News team.

Williams, Reiser Still Lead Loops With Mighty Bats

New York, Sept. 20—(AP)—The major leagues are turning the last corner before the end of the season and Ted Williams of the Boston Red Sox and Pete Reiser of the Brooklyn Dodgers still are outrunning their rivals for the batting championships.

With another week to go, Williams has an average of .405 and a splendid chance to be the first .400 hitter in the big leagues since Bill Terry hit .401 for the New York Giants in 1930.

No one has finished above .400 in the American League since 1923 when Harry Heilmann hit .403.

Williams dropped five points this week, but unless he runs into a string of tough luck next week should enter the charmed circle.

Reiser slipped three points to .335, but all vestige of opposition disappeared at the same time.

Johnny Hopp of the St. Louis Cardinals was hitting .325 and still threatening in second place last Saturday. But this week he skidded to .309.

Johnny Mize, who had been third at .328, dropped to .317, although this was good enough to tie Stan Hack of the Chicago Cubs for second.

Whirly Is Running At Belmont Today

New York, Sept. 20—(AP)—Whirlaway, which looked like anything but a racing champion in his last start, goes out today at Belmont Park to prove that even a champion can have his bad days.

Enough fans are expected to believe that theory to make Warren Wright's speedster and his stablemate, Dandy Fox, 1 to 5 favorites to win the 49th running of the Lawrence Realization over a mile and five-eighths. It's the longest distance he has been called upon to run.

The last time out, Whirly took a beating from War Relic at Narragansett Park. He didn't have any excuse for that, but today there's no colt in his class arrayed against him. The only horses named to face Whirlaway were Hal Price Headley's Alaking, William duPont's Fairymant and W. E. Boeing's Time Counts, a surprise entry which is considered a 50-1 shot.

If Whirly collects the top money of about $15,000, he will move into third place among the money-winning leaders. He's already collected $324,611. Then he'd have less than $100,000 to go to pass Seabiscuit and Sun Beau.

Sam Snead Leads Large Golf Field

Philadelphia, Sept. 20—(AP)—Hillbilly Sammy Snead's regained his long lost putting touch and he'd better hold on to it if he expects to keep ahead of the seige guns stalking his trail in the $7,500 Henry Hurst Invitational golf inaugural.

Unmindful of a broken middle finger on his left hand, the Hot Springs, Va., sharpshooter put on a dazzling performance to shave six strokes off par for a record-breaking 64 on the initial 18 holes at Torresdale-Frankford Country Club.

But the par busting 32-32 exhibition gave him only a one-stroke lead over the field of 86 at the start of today's second 18 holes of play after which the list will be cut to 48 low scorers for Sunday's concluding 36-hole battle.

In a tailspin since early August after winning the Canadian and Rochester Opens, Slammin' Sam flashed old-time form yesterday to top an even dozen American champions, present and past. He used only 26 putts, getting down eight times in one and playing one hold without taking the putter out of his bag, blasting into the cup after trapping a tee shot on the 14th.

Hot on his heels came Terl Johnson, Philadelphia open champ and one of 13 players to better or equal par. Needing two more putts than Snead, Johnson hung up a neat 65 to match the course record set two days previously in practice by Jimmy Demaret of Norton, Conn., and Gene Kunes, Pennsylvania Open titleholder.

The total population of Australia now is estimated at about seven million.

Just for Luck?

Lou Nova pitches horseshoes at Pompton Lakes camp. Just for luck, perhaps. He may need it against Joe Louis at Polo Grounds Sept. 29.

FLATBUSH AND PHILS TANGLE IN TWIN BILL TODAY; CARDS AND CHICUBS CONTINUE WARS

By JUDSON BAILEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

The baseball season is getting shorter by the minute, and perhaps a solution to the struggle in the National League is getting nearer by the same reckoning—but it isn't visible to the naked eye.

While the Brooklyn Dodgers were in Philadelphia yesterday frittering away an off day, the St. Louis Cardinals were busy blistering the Chicago Cubs, 3-1, and making the race in the senior circuit just about as close as it can get.

Today the standings are:

	W.	L.	Pct.	Gbl.	Gtp
Brooklyn	93	52	.641	—	9
St. Louis	92	52	.639	½	9

For the first time in months the two rivals have exactly the same number of games left to play—and the pressure that has been and still is on the Cardinals becomes readily apparent.

The fortunes of the contenders may fluctuate between now and the close of the campaign a week from tomorrow, but if during that time the Dodgers win exactly as many games as the Cards, Brooklyn will get the pennant.

St. Louis has to win one game more than the Dodgers down the home stretch because of the tie the Cards played with the New York Giants last week.

This assignment is made all the more difficult because Brooklyn has seven games with the last-place Phillies and two with the seventh-place Boston Braves while the Cardinals must tackle the Chicago Cubs five times and Pittsburgh four.

The Cardinals have shown no sign of cracking. The return of Terry Moore to centerfield and the addition of some rookie strength has given them new power for the final lap.

Yesterday, in the only major league game scheduled, they looked as good as ever in bowling over the Cubs, who only a couple of weeks ago knocked St. Louis out of first place.

Poker-faced Harry Gumbert pitched seven-hit ball to obtain his 11th victory of the season and fifth straight.

The Cards are so close to the Dodgers, as a result, that they can take over first place today by two percentage points if Brooklyn should split its doubleheader with the Phillies.

BY TED MEIER

Philadelphia, Sept. 20—(AP)—Proudly boasting "you can't beat a club like ours," Manager Leo Durocher of the cocky and confident Dodgers nominated his two ace hurlers for a doubleheader against the Phillies today in the hope of boosting Brooklyn's lead over the Cardinals in their torrid National League pennant fight.

"This is our opportunity to put St. Louis out of the race and we aren't going to muff it," declared Leo in picking 20-game winners Whitlow Wyatt and Kirby Higbe to oppose the last-place but always dangerous Phils in the start of a five-game series which might determine the flag chase.

Back from what Durocher described as "the greatest western trip in 16 years," the Flatbush outfit spent yesterday in idleness while its first place margin was trimmed to a mere half game by the Card triumph over Chicago.

"They came from behind to win games out west that gave me the greatest thrill I ever had in my life," said Leo. "They can't beat us from now in. We beat the best pitchers and the best clubs when the chips were down. Sure, we're going to win the pennant."

He shrugged off the $150 fine levied on him by League Prexy Ford Frick for his rumpus with Umpire George Magerkurth at Pittsburgh over a balk called against Pitcher Hugh Casey which led to a Pirate win. Insisting it wasn't a balk, Durocher added "we should have won the game and of course I got sore. Any red-blooded guy would do the same thing. But that's baseball—tomorrow is another day."

Right now his big worry is scalping the Phillies, Wyatt, who has been rested since his thrilling 1 to 0 three-hit shutout over the Cards last week, is slated to pitch the first game, starting at noon (EST). He is likely to be opposed by the veteran Cy Blanton, who has won six and lost 12.

Higbe, a former Phil who was sold to the Dodgers for $100,000 last winter, and Southpaw Frank Hoerst are to hook up in the afterpiece. Hoerst pitched the best game of his career the last time the Dodgers were in Shibe Park, giving up only four hits and winning, 4 to 0.

SHORTER GRID SEASON MAY BE P. I. A. A. RULING

Harrisburg, Sept. 20—(AP)—A shorter football season, long advocated by leaders of the Pennsylvania Interscholastic Athletic Association, has a good chance of coming up for approval of the association's board of control this year as a result of the infantile paralysis outbreak.

Schools are getting a taste of abbreviated schedules because the near-epidemic has delayed school opening in nine counties and the PIAA asked the football practice be eliminated there also.

Edmund Wicht, PIAA secretary, said today he was in complete accord with a move by J. Wynn Fredericks, state health and physical education director, to make the season start around September 20.

Wicht said that one and two weeks of practice before opening games and schedules of 10 to 12 games were too hard on the athletes.

"They should have at least three weeks of drilling before the opening game," he added, "and that's a theory I've held for a long time."

Under present regulations, schools may open practice August 25, but there's a tendency in some districts to begin the season as early as September 5.

"Cool nights and the use of lights have spurred the scheduling of night games," he said, and that has brought earlier season tilts, stretching the roster to 11 or more games.

The board of control meets in Philadelphia November 10, and the proposal to limit the start to late September is expected to be placed before the rule-making body—although Wicht said he would not submit the plan himself.

Weiland Will Mentor Hershey Hockey Club

Hershey, Pa., Sept. 20.—(AP)—The Hershey Bears hockey team will enter the American League ice scramble this year under the tutelage of Ralph "Cooney" Weiland, who led the Boston Bruins to the world's hockey championship last season.

The little center-ice star was named to succeed Herb Mitchell, who coached the chocolate town's American League entry for the past two years and before that piloted Hershey amateur teams to three consecutive Eastern League titles.

Weiland started major league hockey with Boston in 1928. In 1929 he formed what was known as the "Dynamite Trio" with Dit Clapper and Dutch Gainer, and set an all-time National League scoring record of 43 goals and 30 assists in a 44-game schedule. The new Hershey coach also holds one of the fastest individual scoring marks in the National League—two goals in seven seconds.

14-Man Group Will Draft New "Super-Budget"

(From Page One)

Senate finance committee told reporters that "the new body may be able to make very effective reduction in non-defense spending by formulating a program which the people and the members of congress can tie to."

George said that since both the administration and congress were represented on the group, it should be able to formulate a workable plan of economy and then work for its adoption by congress.

"It might become a sort of super-budgeting group," he added. "Both the administration and members of congress have agreed that expenditures for non-essentials should be reduced, but so far no one has taken the initiative."

Senator Byrd (D-Va), who sponsored the amendment creating the committee, told reporters that "it will be the business of this committee to determine how much can be slashed from non-defense, non-essential federal expenditures."

There was considerable speculation as to who would head the new body. Some administration leaders predicted that Secretary Morgenthau or Budget Director Harold D. Smith would be chairman. Other informants said place might fall to George, Chairman Doughton (D-NC) of the house ways and means committee or Chairman Glass (D-Va) of the appropriations committee.

Seattle, Sept. 20—(AP)—The Post - Intelligencer, outspoken critic of the Navy Department's relations with the press, expressed gratification today over the new navy publicity policy which allowed publication today of news of 12 British warships being in American ports.

The newspaper, published by John Boettiger, son-in-law of President Roosevelt, said in a page one editorial that it always has felt that publicity regarding the presence of British warships in American repair yards "could only serve the most helpful purposes."

The newspaper criticized policies of Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox toward the press after a naval station guard fired four shots to stop a boat carrying another paper's photographer in a restricted zone at the arrival of a Russian military mission September 4.

Aircraft Workers May Quit

said only that the new threat was the result of a series of "incidents" at the plant.

The 44,000 striking coal miners agreed to go back to work pending settlement of the dispute over the union shop issue. The agreement provides that work will be resumed for 30 days after which either side may give three days' notice of termination. The so-called captive mines are owned by steel companies which take their entire output.

Meanwhile there was a fear in shipping circles that disputes between seamen and owners of vessels over the question of war bonuses might develop into a general strike.

The AFL union wants a bonus of $60 monthly for trips to the West Indies, which they want considered a war zone. Bonuses of $1 a day are paid for trips to Canadian waters.

The Maritime Commission requisitioned three struck vessels of the Alcoa Banner, the Alcoa Trader and the Alcoa Scout—to hasten supplies to Caribbean ports. The ships were expected to clear New York harbor today and tomorrow with crews paid the same scale paid by Alcoa.

Superiority In Air Essential To Tank Attacks

Third Army's central front.

"Because we had to wait for infantry troops to move on foot, we could not attack with our tanks when we were in a position to cut the Third Army to pieces," Scott said. "We should have gone right in and hit them before they got set."

A half million men of the two armies are resting until Monday night, finished with five days of a gruelling test in which a smaller army with armored divisions lost the popular decision to a bigger but slower force. Combat planes stole the show.

Lake Charles, La., Sept. 20.—(AP)—Major General H. A. Dargue, praising the safety tactics of pilots of 800 planes in the Louisiana war maneuvers in which five airmen have been killed said today the airforce's new type bombers have withstood their first tremendous field tests.

Included among the new ships tested under simulated war conditions was the B-26 bomber which Robert A. Lovett, undersecretary of the War Department for air, has described as the fastest in the world. Army airmen said it could fly faster than 350 miles per hour.

Winners will be decided by the people of the community on a vote-count basis. Their votes for babies entered in the election and trade expansion may result from favoritism to any baby they know or may result from election of the favorite after seeing photographs of the entrants in this newspaper.

Babies of the cooperating merchants, their employees, employees of The Times-Mirror business office are not eligible to participate. This rule does not apply to our correspondents.

They didn't have elections like this when adults of today were babies; business men did not organize together in such a movement. This generation has made progress that beneficiaries in this election will base their advances.

Hard knocks of experience were encountered by most of the successful adults of today to gain their laurels. They never had a movement like this to pick them up on the threshold of maturity and provide them with means of assisting in gaining the business education which is daily becoming more necessary to success. These citizens in particular will appreciate the full virtue of this baby election. The winning children will have a nest egg to look forward to and a good will send-off to look back on.

Heaven-sent gifts of paradise are really to receive this benefit. This newspaper is more than a weather prophet. It is the weather sender — it has definitely arranged and provided for the shower of cash which will rain more than $2,000.00 in cash prizes and commissions to community babies, according to the plan.

death at Marshall, Tex. Their plane overshot the field, crashed into a tree and burned.

A crash of a training plane soon after a takeoff from the Parksley, Va., airport killed Second Lieutenants Carlyle O. Hoch of Newark, N. J., and Angus J. MacDonald, Los Angeles.

Two others died at Fort Worth, Tex., while practicing aerobatics. They were J. C. Foster, 22-year-old civilian instructor, and Flying Cadet Ronald S. Bierer, 21, Brooklyn. A wing came off the plane as it went into a plunge.

Twelve others died earlier in the war games involving the Second and Third armies. One person was killed in a plane crash, eight in highway accidents, two by drowning and one by suicide.

was going to be such an important issue in next year's congressional campaigns as to force a political realignment.

"President Roosevelt and Mr. Willkie both promised to the voters of this country that they would keep us out of war," he said. He declared that the president, evidently with Willkie's approval, had accomplished "the breach of this promise by short circuiting the constitutional power of congress to declare war" when he told the navy to shoot on sight at Axis warcraft in "defensive waters."

suffered in the crash of the "getaway car."

Dr. A. M. Gigliotti said the third bandit "probably would recover."

A check by Federal Bureau of Investigation authorities and police today revised the amount of the bandits' loot downward from $3,500 to about $1,072 in cash.

The pursuit was touched off yesterday by the third holdup at the First National Bank of Harrisville, 30 miles northeast of here.

Entering the bank five minutes before closing time, the men told Assistant Cashier W. E. McBride "this is a stickup. One false move and we'll blow out your brains."

They emptied the cash drawer and sped away.

Police Chief Ernest Hartman, armed with a sub-machine gun, halted them as they approached Ellwood City. Ducking a hail of bullets, the chief blazed away. He hit two of the men before running out of ammunition.

Hearing the shots, Policeman Edward Shaffer and Jimmy Pasta, drug store employe, chased the robbers at high speed through the town. Three miles from here the bandits' car overturned down a 15-foot embankment.

Two motorists, unaware of the robbers' identity, drove up to assist them. Surprised, they had their hands in the air when Shaffer and Pasta arrived.

"We can't make any time in this trap with seven people here," one of the bandits said as the trio prepared to continue flight in another car.

"Well, let's get rid of some of them," said another, threatening the pursuers with a rifle.

Pasta related later:

"Then I got scared and grabbed for the rifle and shot him. I don't know how I'd have done it if I hadn't been scared I was going to die."

Another robber blacked Shaffer's eye with a wrench. But the officer bested him. Hartman said that when he got there the bandits were subdued. "In fact, I never saw a better job of subduing," he declared.

The chief identified the Pennsylvania trio as Earl Everts, 28, Smithfield, who was killed; Kenneth Palmer, 33, Volant, and Albert Feelo, 26, Republic, who died today.

All the loot, soaked with blood, was recovered.

The Washington county district attorney's office said Feelo had been sentenced 3½ to 7 years in May, 1938, as an accessory in the slaying of a Fredericktown man.

Hartman, of medium build and about 40 years old, has figured in other spectacular captures here. About two years ago he killed a suspect bandit who had knocked him down with a tear gas gun.

Mrs. Laura Jash and Angelo Decarbo, both of Ellwood City, were the motorists who went to the bandits' assistance—and were astonished to find guns levelled at them. One of the holdup men ordered them to help get his wounded comrades into Decarbo's car.

At that point Shaffer and Pasta drove up in the latter's car.

"Get my buddies into that car," Everts ordered, "and get 'em in quick."

Pasta said that as he grabbed Everts' .30-30 rifle, he called to the policeman to "let him have it."

"Sheffer slugged Palmer," he recalled. "Palmer hit him in the eye with a wrench, but Ed (Shaffer) took it away from him and hit him across the head. He had to hit him almost a dozen times before he stopped fighting."

Hartman said Palmer was one of the Volant bank robbers in 1930. Palmer and Feelo were taken to Ellwood City hospital. Feelo had a bullet wound in the stomach and spine.

Mrs. Jash and Decarbo said they believed the timely arrival of Shaffer and Pasta saved their lives.

State police said an unidentified motorist telephoned the tip that the bandits were heading for Ellwood City. After hearing the police radio alarm, a car roared past the motorist and he suspected it was the bandits.

State Police Lieut. A. J. Hudock said the capture was "most efficiently done."

No one was harmed during the bank robbery in Harrisville, Butler county. The employes were ordered to lie on the floor, and when Clare Glenn, Harrisville school student, entered the bank, he also was forced to lie down.

On the way out the robbers encountered a lumber company representative and relieved him of a $350 deposit.

Throughout the state new cases are being reported daily, but Dr. A. Hamilton Stewart, acting secretary of health, said the total for the current week "is a little below the level had for the last three weeks, which makes the situation look a little better."

In Linesville, Crawford county, a 14-day quarantine on public gatherings including schools, churches and theatres was invoked by authorities after a year-old child was reported ill of the disease. The action followed a similar ban in nearby Saegertown, where one case was reported.

Two cases were diagnosed in Mercer county—a Clark man and five-year-old Slippery Rock girl.

Seventeen cases were recorded by the health department yesterday, sending the total to 441.

SOMEWHAT STEADIER COURSE IS CHARTED ON THE MARKET TODAY

New York, Sept. 20—(AP)—Stocks charted a somewhat steadier course in today's market but the majority failed to pick up any real recovery tail winds.

Indecisive shifts ruled dealings from the start. While scattered plus signs appeared here and there as the brief session progressed, these were offset by a wide assortment of small fractional declines. Most leaders pointed moderately downward at the close.

The pace was relatively slow during the greater part of the proceedings although several blocks of low-priced issues put the two-hour volume at around 300,000 shares.

Stocks lacking rallying animation included U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Chrysler, General Motors, Great Northern, Anaconda, Western Union, U. S. Rubber, Sears Roebuck, J. I. Case, Douglas Aircraft, Sperry, Consolidated Aircraft, Allied Chemical, Johns-Manville, Union Carbide, Texas Corp., Savage Arms and Warner Bros.

Ahead now and then were American Can, Caterpillar Tractor, International Harvester, American Smelting, Pennsylvania, General Electric and Eastman Kodak.

are hammering at Leningrad with increased pressure but the Russians show no signs of diminishing their fierce defense.

In the center, the Russians are carrying out counterattacks directed at regaining Smolensk but the Germans attach little importance to these assaults.

Both the German and Russian capitals had air-raid alarms during the night.

The Germans said British bombers attempted to attack Berlin but were kept off by anti-aircraft guns. One raiding plane was reported shot down.

The Russians said one German plane succeeded in bombing Moscow but no damage was caused."

The Nazis have acknowledged British raids on various cities in north Germany and admitted that "explosives and incendiary bombs dropped in residential quarters resulted in a number of dead and wounded among the civilian population."

In London, the authoritative Press Association said the Royal Air Force did not attack Berlin during the night, leaving the possibility that the Russian air force made the aerial thrust.

The German High Command also reported capture of the islands of Vormsi and Mumu at the mouth of the Gulf of Riga, preparing the way of an assault on strongly held Russian island of Oesel. Mumu and Oesel are linked by a causeway.

The British air ministry said the RAF bombed Stettin, Germany's biggest Baltic port, about 100 miles northeast of Berlin, and set many large fires among docks, warehouses and railway yards, while coastal command planes bombed Nantes, in German-occupied France.

In the Far East, the Japanese claimed and the Chinese acknowledged successes for an invasion force in Hunan province, one of China's richest rice-producing districts.

coal diggers, demanded that they go back to their jobs only a few hours before the announcement of plans to extend the walkout. Federal and state mediators also joined in efforts to settle the controversy.

The walkout is a protest against an increase in dues from $1 to $1.50 a month levied by the District 7 convention to help financially distressed locals and an assessment boost from $2 to $6 a year approved by national referendum to build up the union treasury. Only miners in the district pay the dues hike while the added assessment affects all the 100,000 anthracite diggers in teh state. Several hundred workers in District one walked out earlier in the week but returned when operators agreed not to take the assessment out of their pay through the check-off system.

so an appeal could be taken to the supreme court at Philadelphia next Tuesday, when a similar case in the city of Philadelphia will be heard. They said both cases could be decided at the same time.

The Philadelphia case is an appeal on the proposed election of a mayor November 4 to succeed the late Robert Lamberton.

Election of a Westmoreland register was ordered by the Democratic-controlled county board of commissioners. The Republicans claimed the governor should appoint a successor to fill the unexpired term of Wirsing, a Democrat, running until January, 1944.

The Democratic executive committee has called a meeting for September 27 to select its nominee. Seven persons were mentioned for the post.

RED ARMY REPORTED STILL FIGHTING DESPERATELY AT KIEV

DISCOUNTS CLAIMS OF GERMANS

Red Army Report it is Still Battling Heavily for Ukrainian Capital and That Invaders Have Lost Ten Divisions, Including 150,000 Men Leaves Doubt Whether Nazis Have Occupied City

DRIVE ON LENINGRAD REPORTED INCREASING

By the Associated Press

Although clearly in a desperate position in the Ukraine, the Red army reported today it still was fighting heavily at Kiev and that Germans had lost 10 divisions—up to 150,000 men—in assaulting the city where they claim the swastika flag already floats.

The German High Command said that the citadel of Kiev was stormed Friday, that the Russian officers fled and the whole Red army garrison surrendered without further resistance.

This left some doubt whether the Germans had occupied the old Ukraine capital or had merely smashed into part of it. The Soviet midday communique made no acknowledgements except to place the heaviest fighting directly at Kiev.

A high source in London expressed doubt that the Nazis had done as well as they claimed in the Ukraine.

Russian sources in the British capital admitted that Kiev, Lenngrad, and even Moscow itself eventually might be lost, but said the Soviet union would not even think of defeat unless the Hitler legions were able to drive to the easternmost depths of Siberia.

The Germans claimed not only to have effected a juncture which surrounded four Soviet armies east of that great city, and to be harrying the Russians by land and air in a pell-mell rush toward the industrial Donets basin and its chief city, Kharkov.

Acknowledging that "the reports of German successes probably contain some truth," the London source said it was strongly doubted that an encirclement move could encompass so wide an area or that the Russian forces were being chopped up piecemeal as the Germans insisted.

The Russians pointed out anew that their traditional strategy was one of planned withdrawal and held that loss of Kiev would be no insuperable tragedy.

WESTMORELAND ELECTION ROW IS UNSETTLED

Greensburg, Sept. 20—(AP)—Westmoreland county court last night passed onto the state supreme court the question of deciding finally whether a register of wills should be elected November 4 to succeed the late Herbert Wirsing.

In hand with this, the court dismissed a petition of the county Republican committee seeking an injunction against the election. The decision further ordered the Westmoreland election board to proceed meanwhile with plans for electing a register, whose salary is $4,000 a year.

The judges pointed out hasty action had been asked in the matter

14-MAN GROUP WILL DRAFT NEW 'SUPER-BUDGET'

Committee, Authorized in Amendment to Revenue Bill, Will be Set Up As Soon As President Signs the Measure

TO CUT DOWN SPENDING

BULLETIN

Hyde Park, Sept. 20—(AP)—President Roosevelt today signed the $3,553,400,000 tax bill, the largest ever enacted. He affixed his signature at 11:15 a. m. (EST).

Washington, Sept. 20—(AP)—Legislative leaders said today that a new 14-man committee authorized to investigate non-defense expenditures may write a "super-budget" designed to make substantial reductions in present outlays for domestic activities.

The committee, authorized in a Senate amendment to the record $3,553,400,000 revenue bill, will be set up as soon as President Roosevelt signs the tax measure. It will consist of the secretary of the treasury, the budget director and a dozen members of the senate and house taxing and appropriating committees. Its duty will be to make a thorough inquiry in an effort to curtail non-defense spending. It would have a $10,000 operating fund.

SUPERIORITY IN AIR ESSENTIAL

With Second Army in Louisiana, Sept. 20.—(AP)—Air superiority and motorized infantry are needed for complete success of tank attacks, Major General Charles S. Scott, commander of the nation's only complete tank corps, declared today.

"The day of trying to operate without airplanes is past," he asserted, "and putting foot troops with tanks is like sending a plow mule and race horse out together and expect them to go at the same speed."

This was demonstrated in the Second-Third Army maneuvers this week when the armored forces of General Scott led a spearhead of a combined armored-infantry-cavalry-air attack to split the

AIRCRAFT WORKERS MAY QUIT

Threats of Strikes in War Plane Factories on Both Coasts Face Nation, While Fear of Soft Coal Shortage Eases With Assurance That 44,000 Miners Will Return to "Captive" Pits

SEAMEN STILL HOLDING OUT FOR WAR BONUSES

By the Associated Press

Threats of strikes in war plane factories on both coasts faced the nation today, while the fear of a soft coal shortage eased with the assurance that some 44,000 miners will return to the "captive" pits in Pennsylvania, West Virginia and Kentucky Monday.

A walkout in the aircraft plants would affect more than 38,000 workers.

On the west coast, AFL machinists at the San Diego plant of the Consolidated Aircraft Corporation said they had halted wage negotiations and were prepared to enforce demands with a walkout.

George C. Castleman, vice president of the International Association of machinists, said the National Defense Mediation Board had been requested to consider the dispute, after Consolidated refused to give a general 10-cent hourly wage increase to 23,300 employes. The present minimum rate for beginners is 55 cents an hour, with skilled men receiving more.

In the east, trouble brewed at the plants of the Curtiss-Wright Corporation in Buffalo, N. Y., and Air Associates, Inc., at Bendix, N. J.

At the Curtiss-Wright plant a union of employes known as "The Aircraft," not affiliated with national organizations, voted to strike unless the National Labor Relations Board grants an employe representation election in 10 days.

The union claims a majority of the firm's 15,000 workers. Its president, Leo Kriegbaum, said a decision in a mass meeting last night was almost unanimous on the strike issue.

The CIO workers at Air Associates in Bendix authorized a second strike call. They were out 21 days in July. The union gained a Labor Board election last July and struck later, contending workers were fired for union activity. Joe Miller, representing the local,

AGREEMENT ON MATERIAL AID GOING TO RUSSIA

London, Sept. 20—(AP)—An agreement on immediate material aid to Russia has been reached here by the United States and British missions to Moscow, W. Averill Harriman, head of the American delegation said today.

Harriman emphasized that the agreement was on immediate shipments only and that no settlement had been reached on general policy. The American delegation expects to go to Moscow soon.

Saying that Lord Beaverbrook, British minister of supply and head of the British mission, already was in the Russian capital, Harriman added laughingly: "I have no concern over who arrives first as this is a contributing mission."

He said that General James E. Chaney, special military observer in London, would take the place on the Moscow delegation of General George M. Brett, now in the Middle East, because Brett will be unable to complete his business there in time.

Harriman's press conference spiked a report that he already had left.

Regarding the particular supplies which will be sent, Harriman said: "There will be hundreds of American planes and tanks sent to Russia, but I would not wish to specify when or what types. The flow will be constantly increasing and eventually will be limited only by problems of transport."

It is "reasonable to assume," he added, that the question of replacement of raw materials lost by Russia through German conquests or bomb damage, also will be considered by Britain and the United States.

12 More Hostages Face Nazi Firing Squads In France

Paris, German-Occupied France, Sept. 20—(AP)—The Germans announced today the shooting of 12 more hostages as a reprisal for an attack in which a German non-commissioned officer was killed September 16.

Colonel General Heinrich von Stuelpnagel, commandant of the occupying forces in France, said that seven of the 12 were picked and shot as Communists, two for attacks against German soldiers and three for illegal possession of arms.

Von Stuelpnagel in curt phrases warned that in case of further attacks "many more hostages will be shot."

The new executions raised to 25 the number of hostages brought before Nazi firing squads, and to 35 the number of persons executed as hostages and on charges.

The 12 were the most executed at any one time.

LEWIS DEMAND BRUSHED ASIDE BY INSURGENTS

Leaders of 20,000 Hard Coal Miners Who Stopped Work in Protest Against Union Assessments to Start Spreading Strike

TO ENTER NEW FIELDS

next week throughout the entire ing John L. Lewis' powerful United Mine Workers of America, leaders of 20,000 hard coal miners who stopped work in protest against increased union dues and assessments announced today they would start spreading the revolt anthracite diggers in the state, rich anthracite region of Pennsylvania.

Brushing aside demands that they return to work in 42 mines shutdown by the walkout in the Hazleton area of the union's district nine, insurgents called a meeting for tomorrow to plan a march into adjoining Wilkes-Barre-Scranton district one to seek support and wired Lewis:

"We deem your lack of interest in our movement as an outright disregard for the rights and privileges for the men of our district No. 7. We are forced to take action, which we feel will get our demands guaranteed under the constitution by right of strike, joint agreement or any other legal means."

The insurgents claimed they had not received the report of a three-man union commission, named by Lewis, which inquired into the dispute and called on the protesting miners to return to work pending settlement of their grievances through regular channels, Garrett Miller, leading the revolt, said he got a letter with a note saying the report was enclosed but that he could find no report. Previously he could see "no hope for a settlement" in the commission proposal.

WATCH "BOOTLEG BUYERS"

Harrisburg, Sept. 20—(AP)—Pennsylvania farmers were warned by the State Milk Control Commission to look for the license of any out-of-state purchaser before doing business with him, in an effort to curb the "bootleg buyer." The commission said it was the practice of the "bootleg buyer" to offer higher prices during the seasonal shortage from September to November and fail to make payment on the explanation that customers have not yet paid.

DECREE OF PRESIDENT ATTACKED

Charging That Roosevelt Had Broken Pledges to American People by "Ordering Navy into a Shooting War" Senator LaFollette Serves Notice Policies Face Vigorous Attack in 1941 Elections

ACTIVE INVOLVEMENT AN IMPORTANT ISSUE

Washington, Sept. 20—(AP)—Senator LaFollete (Prog-Wis) served notice today that the foreign policies espoused by President Roosevelt and Wendell L. Willkie would face a vigorous attack in the 1942 congressional elections.

Charging that the president had broken his pledges to the American people by "ordering the navy into a shooting war," the Wisconsin senator called upon all those "who are opposed to entering this war to mobilize for the political battles which lie just ahead."

Re-elected last year with administration backing after he had indorsed the president's bid for a third term, La Follette has been a frequent critic of administration foreign policy moves although a strong supporter of its domestic program.

Despite Mr. Roosevelt's press conference rebuke this week of those who would inject party politics into the present critical world situation, La Follette tlod reporters there appeared to be a "collaboration to purge the Democratic and Republican parties of all those who do not agree with the administration's foreign policies."

He said Willkie, the 1940 Republican nominee, seemed ready to join in this, if reports were true that he intended to campaign only for party members who indorsed the expanding program to aid nations fighting Germany.

The president made it clear he objected to linking party politics with foreign policy when he rebuked a reporter last Tuesday for inquiring if Democrats were going to be encouraged to vote for Republican candidates backing his international course, as against Democrats who did not.

La Follette insisted, however, that the question of active involvement of this country in the war

STATE TEACHERS COLLEGES WILL OPEN MONDAY

Harrisburg, Sept. 20.—(AP)—Pennsylvania's 14 state teachers colleges will open Monday after a delay caused by the infantile paralysis outbreak, but students from eight counties hardest hit by the disease will be barred at least until September 29.

An additional week's vacation was declared for students from York, Dauphin, Lebanon, Schuylkill, Montgomery, Northumberland, Cambria and the Columbia area of Lancaster county.

Public schools in those areas, plus the remainder of Lancaster county and all of Cumberland county, are to remain closed until September 29 to combat further spread of the disease which has taken 30 lives and stricken approximately 450 persons this year.

Together the teachers colleges have nearly 9,000 full-time students.

DEATH OF YOUNG LADY AT SALAMANCA PROBED

Salamanca, N. Y., Sept. 20—(AP)—The death of Miss Frieda Coons, 25, Coudersport, Pa., in front of a tavern brought an investigation today by Acting District Attorney Alonzo J. Prey, who ordered an autopsy.

Prey said police were summoned early this morning to the tavern to investigate a fight and they reported Miss Coons had collapsed. He added she had marks on her throat. Two men are being held as witnesses.

Miss Coons had been visiting Mr. and Mrs. Martin Waleski, who had moved here recently from Coudersport.

Music Dealer Buys College for Women At Mechanicsburg

Mechanicsburg, Sept. 20—(AP)—A Harrisburg music dealer, Austin E. Spangler, bought the Irving College for Women at auction for $14,630 and said today that any move to re-open the institution, closed for 12 years, would be left to the alumni.

The college consisting of Columbia Hall, the main building and three acres of land, was founded before the Civil War and closed in 1929. The furnishings had been sold piece by piece before the property went on the auction block.

Whatever use Spangler makes of the property, the heirs of the president stipulated that the cornerstones of the two buildings—one of which was gutted by fire five years ago—and the college bell, should be turned over to them.

DOZEN BRITISH WARSHIPS ARE IN U. S. PORTS

Secretary Knox, Modifying Policy of Strict Secrecy, Acknowledges That Many Vessels Are in American Shipyards

OTHERS LIE AT ANCHOR

Washington, Sept. 20.—(AP)—The Navy Department, modifying a previous policy of strict secrecy, acknowledged today that more than a dozen British warships are in United States ports.

Twelve were listed by name, including the 35,000-ton battleship Warspite at Bremerton, Wash Still others—names undisclosed—were reported to be anchored in U. S. waters, under terms of the lease-lend act which gives them access to repairs and supplies at American shipyards.

Secretary Knox, in announcing the change of policy concerning publicity late yesterday, said the step had been taken after weeks of consultation with British officials. A "reasonable degree" of information will be released, he said, but "no information will be disclosed which might be of value to the enemy."

Apparently the move was planned to give Americans and Britons some idea of the magnitude of naval assistance which the Royal Navy is receiving under the lease-lend law. President Roosevelt reported recently that $78,169,377 had been spent in repairing and outfitting naval vessels and on military and naval bases.

The navy did not list the reasons for the presence of the various vessels on this side of the Atlantic.

In addition to the Warspite, at Bremerton, the aircraft carriers Illustrious and Formidable were stated to be at Norfolk, Va.; the cruisers Delphi and Dido at Brooklyn; cruisers Orion and Liverpool at Mare Island, Calif.; the converted cruiser Asturias at Newport News, Va.; the submarine Pandora at Portsmouth, N. H.;

MURRAY RE-ELECTION URGED IN DISTRICT 5

Pittsburgh, Sept. 20—(AP)—Re-election of Philip Murray as president of the Congress of Industrial Organizations was urged today in a resolution unanimously adopted by delegates of District 5, CIO United Mine Workers, holding their convention here.

The resolution praised Murray's "constructive leadership" and also eulogized John L. Lewis, president of the union, for his "splendid work" in behalf of organized labor.

YEGGS ARE FOILED BY OFFICERS

Police Chief Ernest Hartman, of Ellwood City, Armed With Sub-Machine Gun, Halts Trio Fleeing In Auto After $3,350 Robbery at the First National Bank of Harrisville, Butler County

DRUG STORE CLERK IS HERO OF REAL DRAMA

Ellwood City, Sept. 20.—(AP)—Two bandits fleeing with about $1,000 in cash after a bank robbery were shot to death and a third was wounded by two police officers and a drug store clerk in a spectacular, running gun-fight.

The deadly battle burst out first at a highway entrance to this western Pennsylvania community yesterday after the bandits held up the First National Bank of Harrisville, 30 miles northwest of here.

One of the robbers died today of wounds suffered in a gun fight at point blank range with Ernest Hartman, Ellwood City's police chief, who had sought to trap the bandits at the town's entrance by blockading the road with his auto.

The other died almost instantly yesterday of wounds inflicted by the drug store clerk in a fierce, hand-to-hand struggle at the town's outskirts.

The clerk, Jimmy Pasta, had entered the dramatic chase when a police officer commandeered his 1934 auto to pursue the bandits. He shot the man with a rifle wrested from one of the bandits.

Meanwhile, the third suspect, wounded in both legs in the skirmish at the entrance to the town, was beaten into submission by the clerk's officer-companion, Edward Shaffer, who seized a heavy wrench as a weapon.

An auto seized by the bandits from passing motorists after their own "getaway car" was wrecked was the scene of the chase's climax.

Attaches at the hospital where the wounded bandits were taken first reported that the robber who died today had perished of injuries

ITALIAN MOTORSHIPS TORPEDOED AND SUNK

Rome, Sept. 20—(AP)—Two Italian motorships transporting troops to Libya were torpedoed and sunk off the coast of Tripoli, but nearly all the soldiers and crew on board the vessels were saved, the Italian high command reported today.

The rescue was made by other ships in convoy with the motorships, the high command added.

The British planes bombed Tripoli, the principal point of entry into Africa for Axis forces, and Bengasi, the advance coastal base of the German-Italian troops.

PROMOTIONAL DRIVE

Harrisburg, Sept. 20—(AP)—Pennsylvania will open a nation-wide promotional campaign next week based on a new theme—the state's attractions for permanent residence. Mark S. Associated Press War Bulletins London, Sept. 20—(AP)—The Moscow radio said today that a savage, life and death struggle" is raging in the northern suburbs of Kiev.

London, Sept. 20—(AP)—The Berlin correspondent of the Swedish newspaper Tidningen reported today that street fighting is continuing today in some sections of Kiev. The report was relayed here by Reuters.

London, Sept. 20—(AP)—The RAF set fire to at least four ships in a German convoy off the Dutch coast late today, it was authoritatively reported.

London, Sept. 20—(AP)—Archduke Felix, younger brother of the Archduke Otto, claimant of the non-existent throne of Austria, has been granted a visa and is leaving for the United States next week, it was learned today.

London, Sept. 20—(AP)—A German radio broadcast today said Russian troops encircled east of Kiev had attempted to break out of the German ring last night, but had been repulsed by concentrated Nazi fire. Another announcement claimed capture of a small town east of Kiev yesterday by German panzer forces

Sports Writer for Times-Mirror Finds Durocher Has Good Right

Philadelphia, Sept. 20.—(AP)—Memo to major league umpires and all others: Manager Leo Durocher of the Brooklyn Dodgers has a good right.

Ted Meier, Associated Press sports writer, is willing to attest to Leo's fistic prowess after a brief exchange with the Dodgers' leader last night.

It all started when Meier and another newspaperman sought to interview Durocher at the Warwick hotel after Leo had testified before Umpire-in-Chief Bill Klem regarding Thursday's row with Umpire George Magerkurth in Pittsburgh.

Durocher and Meier exchanged words as the interview began. When, Meier said, Durocher made an insulting remark, "I promptly told him 'you're not talking to Magerkurth now, Leo.'"

"Then we'll go outside," Meier quoted Durocher as replying.

"I thought he was kidding," Meier said afterward, "but we walked outside, still talking, and all of a sudden, he hit me on the jaw. Boy, he's fast. I swung back, naturally, but the others stopped us immediately.

"We shook hands afterwards and everything is okay now. Leo was just on edge, I guess."

Durocher dismissed the incident today with "there was nothing to it. Everything is fine now."

IVAN S. STONE

Relatives and friends here are shocked to receive the news that Ivan S. Stone, formerly of Warren, passed away last night in Cleveland, O., where he had been employed for the past two years. He had been in ill health for several months, but his condition had not been considered serious.

Mr. Stone was born in Warren and had always resided here until two years ago. He was employed by the Harvey Stief sign manufacturing concern.

Besides his wife, Wynona Stone, he leaves one brother, Glenn, of Warren, and a sister, Mrs. Vera Darling, of Cleveland.

Funeral arrangements have not been completed, but removal will be made to the Peterson Funeral Home here and burial will be made in the local cemetery.

MRS. BESSIE FARNSWORTH

Funeral services in memory of Mrs. Bessie Farnsworth, of Clarendon, were held at 2:30 o'clock Friday afternoon at the Lutz Funeral Home, conducted by Rev. A. G. Meade, assisted by Rev. Emerson Jones. Two solos, "Face to Face" and "No Night There", were sung by Wallace Wright. Bearers for interment in Oakland cemetery were Raymond Dirling, Harold Youngquist, Gerald Dykins, John Moore, George Seavy and Floyd Crocker.

Those who came from out of town included Eugene Farnsworth, Robinson, Ill.; Mr. and Mrs. Ed Owens, Sheffield; Mrs. William Irvin and Mrs. Betty Robinson, Barnes; also friends from Clarendon.

EXPERIMENT TO FIND OIL POOL IN VENANGO CO.

An experiment with a new type of geo-electric apparatus is under way in Venango county to tap new oil pools and add to Pennsylvania's output, it was disclosed today by the Department of Internal Affairs in Harrisburg.

Under the direction of a federal official, the experiment is being conducted near Pleasantville and will determine whether wider surveys can be made, says an Associated Press dispatch.

Electric currents are measured in the earth as rock layers reflect them upward, explained Dr. George H. Ashley, head of the state bureau of topographic and geologic survey.

The machine is similar to that used successfully in the Hawaiian Islands to discover water, and with moderate success in the west with oil.

William S. Livengood, Jr., secretary of internal affairs, said the pools of Lafayette township, McKean county, were discovered four years ago by "wildcat" drillers, and were followed by other wells in a "shoe-string" pool.

The discovery has led oil men to wonder where other such pools may lay, said Livengood, adding that the Music Mountain survey showed that "not all the pools have yet been found x x x."

Of the McKean county pool, Livengood said:

"So far as known it is four miles long and from 800 to 2,000 feet wide. Of the 210 producing wells drilled to the end of 1940, several had a production of 500 barrels an hour, or more than 12,000 barrels a day, with a gas production of five to fifteen million cubic feet per day."

Cable Hollow

Cable Hollow, Sept. 17—The Brotherhood of the United Brethren church met at the church house for their regular meeting on Tuesday evening. Pictures was shown by Glen Fox of Jamestown. A business meeting was called to order by Ernest Van Cise, president. Refreshments were served by the committee.

The Ladies' Aid met at the home of Mrs. Mary Potter for their Sept. meeting. Thirty-four dinners were served. Rev. and Mrs. Berry of Port Allegany were among the guests. Mrs. Minnie Lawson and Mrs. Frances Van-Cise are committee on entertainment for October.

Saturday evening the church gave a reception to Rev. and Mrs. Vrooman who are returning for another year. Mrs. Margaret Cable had charge of a lively program in which Claud Haller gave a reception in behalf of the Brotherhood. Ernest Van Cise for the Sunday school. Mrs. Viola Sears for the Ladies' Aid. In the absence of Ruth Pasco, Alberta Sears read her reception for the Otterbein Guild. Responses were given by Rev. and Mrs. Vrooman. Refreshments were served.

SURPRISE VISIT PAID LODGE AT MEETING HERE

Soon after the Lady Warren Rebekah Lodge had convened its regular business session at eight o'clock last evening in the I.O.O.F. hall, members were paid a surprise visit by approximately 150 visitors from nearby Pennsylvania and New York towns.

In the caravan were Odd Fellows and Rebekahs from Lakewood, Panama, Falconer and Jamestown, N. Y.; Youngsville, Tidioute, Corry and Waterford.

The Corry drill team presented a beautiful drill and two members from that lodge gave a comic song and dance number. Remarks by Fred Nelson, of the Jamestown lodge, were followed by entertainment by the Panama Rebekah "kitchen band." Odd Fellows and Rebekahs from Lakewood staged a drill which included an impressive salute to the flag.

The program and evening was delightfully concluded with the serving of refreshments brought by the visitors.

Friday afternoon, the local Rebekahs gathered in the lodge rooms to can fruit for the I.O.O.F. Home at Meadville. There was a good crowd out for the work session, for the tureen supper and lodge which followed.

Officers were nominated for the ensuing year and a committee was appointed to audit the books. A request was made that all degree members be out for practice next Friday evening in preparation for a "visiting" meeting at Union City on October 15.

OIL PRODUCERS PREPARE FACTS FOR CONFERENCE

Saddened by the death of one of their group and the serious injury of another in the nitro-glycerin explosion on the Warren-Bradford road near Custer City, a committee of oil men at Oil City yesterday wrestled to prepare data on costs and other phases of production to bulwark their protest against the government's freezing of Pennsylvania grade crude oil prices.

J. Clifford Martin, executive secretary of the Bradford District Pennsylvania Grade Crude Oil Producers Association, was killed and Clarendon Streeter, Bradford producer, was critically injured when a truck loaded with nitro, en route to Clarendon, exploded. The oil men were in a car following the truck and were enroute to the conference in Oil City. The truck driver also was killed.

J. E. Moorhead, executive manager of the Pennsylvania Grade Crude Oil Association, headed the fact-finding committee. Fayette B. Dow, general counsel for the association, will lay the producers' case before Leon Henderson, federal price coordinator, in Washington at a public hearing set for next Wednesday.

Working with Moorhead were Edward C. Breene, Oil City attorney and producer; R. T. Zook, Bradford producer; Edwin Robinson, of Fairmont, W. Va., secretary of the West Virginia Oil and Gas Men's Association, and Philip Faine, of New Straitsville, O., secretary of the Ohio-Pennsylvania Oil Producers Association.

ED WYNN'S "BOYS AND GIRLS TOGETHER" TO APPEAR AT SHEA'S THEATRE, JAMESTOWN

Ed Wynn, America's top comedian presents his halirious musical revue "Boys and Girls Together" to local theatregoers for one night only Thursday October 9th at Shea's theatre, Jamestown.

Coming here direct from his triumphant New York engagement the 'Perfect Fool' returns after three years, with this joyous jamboree that he calls "Boys and Girls Together", bringing some of his reliable comedy tricks and a lot of new ones.

As star, author and producer of the show, he is providing a stunning spectacle, fetching novelties, top-notch dancers and singers, variety turns and specialties with an original twist, and a bevy of glamorous beauties parading as the "Cocktail Hour Girls", and a new and talented ensemble of Wynnsom dancers.

From the moment he unexpectedly pops on the scene and starts things off with a drop and whoop, Wynn is in and under and over and around everything and everybody during the long but lively evening. His part is longer than Hamlet's, and certainly far funnier and faster, if not so philosophical.

DIRECTORS TO HOLD SESSIONS HERE THURSDAY

Approximately 160 persons are expected to attend the annual Warren county school directors' convention, to be held next Thursday, September 25, at the court house here, it was stated today by H. L. Blair, county superintendent of schools.

The sessions will open Thursday morning at 10 o'clock with devotionals led by Major B. E. Flinn, of the local Salvation Army corps. The business meeting to follow will include the report of the treasurer, C. V. Pierce, and the following elections: Two members to the county board of school directors, an auditor for the institute fund and a members of the legislative council.

A report on the "Out of School Youth" training program will be presented by C. F. H. Wuesthoff, county vocational supervisor. Dr. Hoenig, of the dental division of the state department of health, will discuss the district plan for dental work. A representative of the Peterson Method of Penmanship also will speak.

The morning session will close with a talk by Dr. Edgar G. Doudna, of Madison, Wis., on "The Real Business of the Schools."

The afternoon session will open with music by the Youngsville band, led by Byron Swanson. The program will include an address by Dr. Ralph W. Sockman, pastor of Christ church, New York, on "Patrons or Partners," and a talk by Frederic Snyder, Kingston, N. Y., news commentator, on "Our Views and the Hour's News."

Former Warren Man Shown in Magazine

The many friends of Robert D. Gray, formerly of 113 Onondaga avenue and now director of industrial relations at California Institute of Technology at Pasadena, Calif., will be pleased to see his picture in the September number of Popular Mechanics.

An article, "Putting the Movies to Work," says:

"At the California Institute of Technology, Professor Robert Gray had adopted the camera for time motion research and for industrial training in the defense engineering classes that have been organized to stimulate production of essential war materials."

MILK INDUSTRY IS DISCUSSED AT DAIRY MEET

Mrs. Mabel E. Dallas, secretary, reports that on Tuesday evening an interested and representative group of members of the Dairymen's League gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Albert Johnson at Sugar Grove fo rtheir monthly meeting.

Director Grout, of Kennedy, N. Y., was present for a fine talk, which was followed by discussion of various topics pertaining to the milk industry. A new and reportedly unsatisfactory amendment, with little raise in price, was presented.

Dissatisfaction was voiced against the new oleomargarine standards of ingredients issued by the federal security administrator. Members alleged that the use of artificial flavoring, which imports to oleomargine a butter taste, and other flavoring substances, the road was opened to deception and contrary to the purpose of the food and drug act and not an incentive for the dairy industry.

The opinion of all was that the many new regulations governing the dairy business were written by consumers rather than the producers and that the attitude of the department of agriculture should change, that farmers might be on a fair basis with other industries in a great defense program.

After the meeting was adjourned, ice cream and cake were served by the committee.

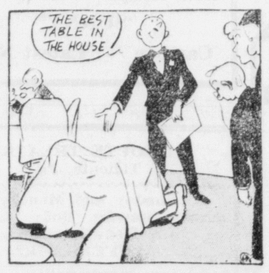

Civil Service Examinations

The U. S. Civil Service Commission announced today that the requirements for the Junior Engineering Aid examination have been amended to permit applicants to qualify if they have successfully completed a course of college level in engineering or in fundamental engineering subjects, aggregating at least 400 hours of study, lecture, or laboratory, sponsored by the U. S. Office of Education under the National Defense Training Program.

Applications may be filed until the close of business on September 25, 1941, with the Manager, Third U. S. Civil Service District, Customhouse, Philadelphia, Pa. Detailed information may be obtained from the Secretary, Board of U. S. Civil Service Examiners, at first-and second-class post offices in Pennsylvania and Delaware; or the Manager, Third U. S. ILKA CHASE'S FAVORITE STORY

(Ilka Chase, the actress and radio star, is a frequent diner-out. A restaurant proprietor, she reports, served her this story one day with a meal.)

The restaurant was overflowing with patrons and so the late diner, hoping against hope she would get a table, exclaimed to the proprietor:

"My, my, I hope business isn't so good I have to wait."

"Good?" the host replied. "Why we're so crowded that everytime a busboy bends over to pick something up, the headwaiter rushes up and throws a tablecloth and four settings over him."

Dr. and Mrs. H. H. Barr have arrived from Kane to take up their residence at 13 Hertzel street. Dr. Barr, former pastor of Grace Methodist church here, retired from the active ministry at the recent Erie Conference sessions at Meadville.

RELIEF PAYMENTS

Direct relief payments made to needy Warren countians during the week ended Thursday show a decrease of $2.00 from those of the previous week, according to State Treasurer G. Harold Wagner. Payments for the week totaled $193, which was $754 lower than those of the comparable week of last year.

REACH SOLUTION

Titusville city councilmen have reached a solution—they hope—on the problem of adopting daylight saving time, the butt of controversy in many a community in rural areas. Under a resolution passed by council there, voters will decide the matter at the November election.

AWARD PRESENTED

Workers in the nation's defense industries are the "shock fighters of democracy," Rear Admiral W. H. P. Blandy said yesterday in presenting the Navy's "E-for-Excellence" pennant to the Erie plant of the General Electric Company. He also presented an excellence pennant to the Erie Forge Company.

HIGHER PRICES

Added federal taxes and increased cost of production will be reflected in new liquor prices at state stores after October 1. The new price schedules were completed by the Liquor Control Board Thursday. The list was to become effective Monday, but was held up while the federal levy on whisky was fixed finally in congress at $4 a gallon. It had been $3.

NOT RESTRICTED

It was incorrectly stated in last night's issue that the specialized evening classes to be given in the high school for men and women were restricted to employed persons. The classes, made possible through the cooperation of the Retail Merchandising Committee of the Warren Chamber of Commerce, are not restricted to employed persons and any one desiring to enroll is privileged to do so.

BUSINESS DECLINES

Operating schedules of many major industries in Pittsburgh increased last week, but as the spurt in retail sales so noticeable during August had almost run its course, the University of Pittsburgh business index dropped four points, says an Associated Press dispatch. The index was 147 per cent of the 1923-25 average. Despite the drop, the business level in Pittsburgh was still far higher than at any corresponding period in the past 57 years.

POLIO QUARANTINE

Two cases of infantile paralysis were reported by the Mercer county bureau of health today while another community in Crawford county imposed a 14-day precautionary quarantine after the illness of a one-year-old child had been diagnosed as polio. The Crawford county quarantine action was taken by the board of health at Linesville. At Saegertown, similar quarantine action was taken yesterday following the discovery of a polio case there.

NEW PASTOR AT U. B. CHURCH IS GIVEN WELCOME

A very well attended reception was held last evening in the First Church of the United Brethren in Christ, arranged to welcome the newly-arrived pastor, Rev. W. G. Woodward, who comes from Harris Hill, N. Y., to succeed Rev. C. E. Dibble.

The program opened with a violin preluge played by Jeannette Nelson, accompanied by Edith Shearer, and followed by congregational singing. Devotions were conducted by the class leader, S. B. Caldwell, after which Mrs. M. L. Farnsworth, of Grace Methodist church, gave a reading, "The New Church Organ".

Greetings to the new pastor were extended by the Sunday school superintendent, Lyle Shearer; from the Woman's Missionary Auxiliary by Mrs. Mildred Frantz, and from the Warren County Ministerial Association by Rev. John Bengtson, pastor of Bethlehem Congregational church, and Rev. J. C. Wygant, First Evangelical minister.

Rev. Woodward responded with a sincere expression of thanks and appreciation for the friendliness shown him since his arrival in Warren.

Alice Fehlman, Joyce Callahan and Isabel Shearer were heard as a vocal trio, with accompaniment by Arlene Caldwell, and the following Ladies' Aid Society members were seen in an interesting playlet: Mrs. Evan Callahan, Mrs. S. B. Caldwell, Mrs. Chris Caldwell, Mrs. Harry Nelson and Mrs. Bertha Winner. A song by the Brotherhood closed the program.

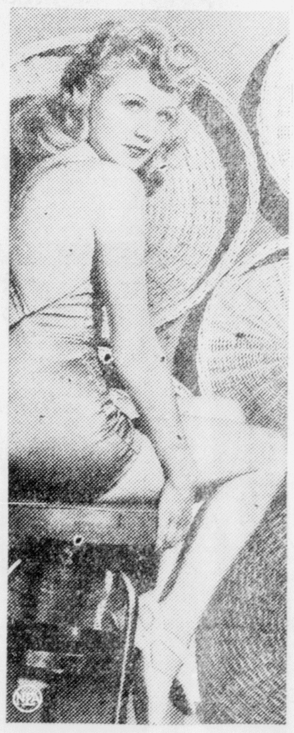

An offering was then taken for the Pangborn family at Russell, quarantined because of the illness of two children with infantile paralysis. A substantial purse of money was realized for presentation to the family.

After Rev. Woodward had dismissed the group, a social hour was enjoyed and refreshments were served by Mrs. George Olson and her committee.

START CLASSES IN PINE GROVE SCHOOL MONDAY

After being closed for two weeks because of infantile paralysis in one family, the Pine Grove school at Russell will re-open on Monday morning, it was announced today.

The school at Russell was first closed two weeks ago when Miss Lois Pangborn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Pangborn, was found to be suffering from the disease. She was stricken while working as a dimestic in a Warren family.

Members of the school board decided to open the schools last Monday, but over the week-end Glean Pangborn, 8-year-old brother of the girl who was first stricken, was found to be suffering from the disease, and the school was kept closed.

Since no other cases have been discovered outside the Pangborn family, it has been decided to open the school on Monday.

DEMOCRATIC

Sheffield, Sept. 20—The first formal event of the general election campaign in Warren county was a largely attended meeting held in the Democratic party's clubroom here last evening at which several speakers discussed issues of the campaign and in particular the importance of electing the right candidate to the office of Judge of the 37th Judicial District, comprising Warren and Forest counties.

The principal speaker was Attorney Harold Hampson, of Warren. Mr. Hampson, prominent Republican who is widely and well known throughout the county and district, told the audience, which was composed largely of Democrats but included also many Republicans, that the right candidate for the judgeship is the one possessing the best qualifications and that that candidate this election is without question Attorney E. H. Beshlin, veteran Warren lawyer who is the Democratic nominee for the judgeship.

Mr. Hampson, who said he has known Mr. Beshlin for 25 years, spoke highly of the nominee's integrity, capability and all-around character.

Other speakers on the program last evening were J. R. "Rusty" Allen, of Warren, Democratic nominee for the office of Register and Recorder, and Attorney C. Henry Nicholson, Democratic county chairman.

The speakers were introduced to the assemblage by M. R. Papavero, of Sheffield, who was in charge of the meeting.

The evening's program included besides the addresses by the speakers some excellent music. Mrs. Margaret Drivas, Warren soprano, favored with three vocal offerings. Mrs. Edith Kuester, also of Warren, played the accompaniments. Miss Mary Konestoba played an accordian solo and later played the piano accompaniments for a duo of saxophone solos played by her sister, Miss Rose Konestoba.

Refreshments consisting of coffee, ice cream and cake were served by the ladies of the Democratic Club during a social hour which followed the formal meeting.

BAND SHELL OR PLATFORM NEEDED

Concerts played this week on the lawn of the Municipal building emphasize again that few towns the size of Warren can boast two such fine musical organizations as the Veterans of Foreign Wars and Warren High School bands. Programs played by the bands on the lawn of the Municipal building were greatly enjoyed by large crowds.

The entertainment provided reminds that one of the pressing needs in the community at the present time is a suitable place where such concerts may be presented with more comfort and pleasure, for both the musicians and the audiences.

A band shell in one of the parks or some other satisfactory place, such as the Beaty playgrounds, has been suggested, but in the absence of such a building, and little possibility of securing one in the near future, another plan proposed by an interested music-lover is that a platform be constructed such as was used by the V. F. W. band some ten years ago for neighborhood concerts be secured.

Such a platform should be provided with equipment that would furnish proper lighting for the musicians, which is another very objectionable feature of the present arrangement.

One of the major projects for Warren during the coming year, along with a swiming pool, should be the erection of a shell or platform, for our two very popular and entertaining bands.

Speaking of entertainment projects, playgoers should remember that the opportunity for securing a Warren Concert Association membership will end tonight at nine o'clock. Three excellent numbers have been secured for the season which are sufficiently varied to suit every musical desire.

That tragedy over near Custer City yesterday emphasizes the danger that besets the people of the community every time a nitro-glycerine truck drives over the streets of the borough.

While on the subject of music, it is well to remember that there is no better place to go to enjoy it than in church.

WEEKLY SERMONETTE

A WONDERFUL MESSAGE

A. SENNEWALD
Evangelical and Reformed Church, Warren

But as many as received him, to them gave he power to become sons of God, even to them that believe on his name.—John 1:12.

When a weary traveler has lost his way, what joy must the sight of a directory afford him. How must his joy be increased if it informs him that he is near a dear friend's house who will kindly receive him. Are we not travelers along the way of life and also yearn for a way that will bring us quietude, assurance and peace? Man became lost in Paradise by receiving a gift from Satan. So in the search for certainty of life, for protection of all the ravaging influences of life, man has sought constantly within himself to find an answer for this certainty. But to what avail? To widen the illustration, we may say man is in a dense forest, lost among the giant trees that stand idly still and offer no assistance. Animals in this huge forest only create within the heart of such a man fear and anger at his own plight. Oh, if a man but had an instrument to show him the way. If some one would only take the lost victim by the hand and lead him to the green valleys that surround the forest.

Satan has man in his grip. The huge forest of the world is only the device of the evil one. However, when the gospel—the gift of God—comes to man, it is as a compass unto man to escape from the terrible agonies of the power of Satan.

Nevertheless, let us examine how man has declined the very gift of God—the way out, as it may be said. As Paul preached in Athens, the retort came, "And when they heard of the resurrection of the dead, some mocked; and others said, We will hear thee again of this matter."

The Savior of the world, while He hung on the cross between two thieves, said to one of these, the one who acknowledged Him—but better still the one whose heart had been touched by God—"Today shalt thou be with me in Paradise." What a message! This is indeed the gospel. This is the good news of forgiveness and salvation. This man knew then that not only with the gospel came condemnation, especially for those who reject the Word, but there came with it a great gift—eternal life.

We learn, then, that man may receive forgiveness on his death bed, but this should not be taken as a universal law. Accordingly we read in the scriptures: "For he saith, I have heard thee in a time accepted, and in the day of salvation have I succored thee; behold, now is the accepted time, behold, now is the day of salvation."

Today if we hear these words, "But as many as received him, to them gave he power to become sons of God, even to them that believe on his name," and receive Him as the Christ, the Savior, we will not only assent to His graciousness, but hope and pray that He will grip our hearts with His living spirit. There is no condemnation in belief; however, the greater joy is that the weary man receives a promise—power to become sons of God. God bestows upon the Christian His heavenly honor. He gives us the right, even more the privilege, of enjoying the comfort and blessing of being the adopted sons of God. The riches of the new covenant, grace and love, are ours. What a miracle of mercy is this! Of the children of wrath and heirs of hell, Christ makes us sons of God and heirs of heaven!

T-H-O-U-G-H-T-S

Let no man deceive you with vain words: for because of these things cometh the wrath of God upon the children of disobedience.—Ephesians 5:6.

• EDSON'S WASHINGTON COLUMN

BY PETER EDSON
Warren Times-Mirror Washington Correspondent

Washington, Sept. 20—The little daisy tax bill of 1941 having now become a law, all the Internal Revenue Department has to do is figure out its own ways and means for collecting the dough. People keep calling it the $3.5 billion tax bill, but that's not doing it full justice. Three and a half billion is just the estimated increase in taxes over last year. What this jim dandy mother's comfort should be known as is the $13.9 billion tax bill, for nearly all of last year's taxes are repassed in this new family treasure, and the total estimated yield of old and new taxes is $13.9 billion. Or, if you want to get reckless the way Congress does every now and then and appropriate another $100 million out of your sock just to get a round number, call it a $14 billion pet, and let it go at that.

Anyway, the precious thing has been five months in the making. The House Ways and Means Committee began its hearings April 17. It presented the draft of its bill to the full House three months later. It was passed by the House and sent to the Senate on Aug. 5. The Senate Committee on Finance then held its own hearings, and was ready to report a revised version of the bill Sept. 2. Then two weeks more were required for the Senate to pass the bill, send it back to the House for conference, and get final passage.

But when it comes to putting one of these sweet patooties into effect, don't think for a minute that there will be five months' delay. Oh, no. The first income taxes under the new and greatly increased rates won't be collectible till March 15, 1942, or about six months off, but the tax collector men will begin putting the touch on you for all those nuisances and excise taxes beginning Oct. 1. And that's where the headaches of the internal revenue collectors begin. They're all sitting up nights, now, figuring how they're going to apply the knife for that extra pound of defense tax flesh.

Some of the new excise taxes the internal revenue collectors have had past experience with, so they know how to go about setting up machinery to make those collections. Jewelry and furs for instance. They have been taxed before though not in recent years. Collecting those retailers' taxes is comparatively easy.

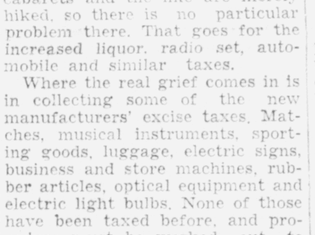

Amusement taxes on theatres, cabarets and the like are merely hiked, so there is no particular problem there. That goes for the increased liquor, radio set, automobile and similar taxes.

Where the real grief comes in is in collecting some of the new manufacturers' excise taxes. Matches, musical instruments, sporting goods, luggage, electric signs, business and store machines, rubber articles, optical equipment and electric light bulbs. None of those have been taxed before, and procedure must be worked out to keep books and collect the taxes at the establishments of all manufacturers and importers. All these will be hidden taxes. The wholesaler and the retailer and the consumer won't be conscious of paying a tax on these items, though the new taxes on them can only mean that the prices will be increased. If this tax is pyramided through the wholesale and retail establishments, it can only mean increased cost of living.

The other thing it means is that the Internal Revenue Department must hire more men and increase its cost of tax collecting machinery. To collect the federal internal revenue in the fiscal year ending June 30, 1941, took the services of 28,585 federal employes, and the total cost of collecting the federal taxes was $65,063,723. That was an up of more than 6100 employes and an up of $5 million in the costs of collection over the previous year ending June 30, 1940, when the total tax collections were $5.34

Honor 100th Anniversary Of First Postage Stamp

CUBA has issued a five-in-one stamp in commemoration of the 100th anniversary of the first postage stamp. It contains about everything that can be crowded into one issue. Besides picturing the first stamps of Great Britain, Spain and Cuba and a map of Cuba, it also bears a portrait of Sir Rowland Hill, "father of the postage stamp."

Hill was an educator but he is best known to philately for his postal reforms, which won him a government post.

The island of Cuba was discovered by Columbus, Oct. 28, 1492. With the exception of one year (1762-3) it remained a Spanish colony until 1898. Under the terms of the Treaty of Paris the United States gave up armed intervention. A republican form of government was assumed in 1900.

In 1936 the United States relinquished its right to intervene in Cuba's internal affairs under the Platt Amendment.

Col. Fulgencio Batista was elected president July 15, 1940, as the candidate of the Socialist-Democratic coalition.

Man About Manhattan

By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—Tim Ford is a man who thinks in terms of leisure afloat. His idea of leisure is to have a few nice books and a stove that will keep a cabin warm, and a few fishhooks and lines within easy reach, and also a bottle of rye to knock off the chills. His definition of "afloat" is a barge he owns that is hitched, or rather was hitched, to a slip in the Hudson River. He bought her at auction, moved aboard with his belongings, and spent about three years making her into his idea of what a houseboat should be.

The other day—the very day Tim put the finishing trim to his little floating "palace"—he got into a rowboat and sallied up the river to do a little fishing. He was gone several hours—just long enough for the old tub to sink. His palace is now in 20 feet of water and Tim is bunking with friends. Disheartened? Not yet, in any case. "Well, that was a good experience. Next time I'll really know how to fix up a houseboat."

ROBBIN COONS, from his point of vantage on the coast, writes that Humphrey Bogart is the first actor on record to have a movie title drop—but hard—on his foot. The title character of "The Maltese Falcon" is a heavy statue cast in lead. Lee Patrick was supposed to hand the statue to Bogart but it slipped through her grasp and came down on Bogie's toe. For a few moments, they say, the air was blue.

Walter Pigeon is one actor who dreads to see himself on the screen. "After the film is shot," he says, "there isn't anything you can do to improve your performance." . . . On one occasion, he remarked, there was another actor with a similar dread of viewing himself on the screen So this chap handed a pair of tickets for a screening to a carpenter who was building him a new house. . . . Next week, the carpenter submitted a bill with the item, "To Overtime, Looking at Picture, $3.50." . . . Maybe that carpenter was something of a critic.

IN KAY KYSER'S new picture, "Playmates," John Barrymore plays the part of John Barrymore. Other players who play themselves in current movies are, Billy Conn, the fighter, in "The Pittsburgh Kid;" and W. C. Fields in "The Great Man."

Do child actors miss out on their schooling? . . . Well, Jane Withers is two years ahead of herself in math . . . Joan Crawford is in town and says she is serious in her intentions to find a good play for the Broadway stage.

I had an unexpected thrill after a plane ride the other day. We were supposed to land at La Guardia field but a violent storm came up and we had to make an emergency landing at Floyd Bennett field. While coming down I noticed that a couple of trucks raced out near the landing runways. . . . After we were down, those "trucks" turned out to be ambulances . . . "Well, you never know," said a sailor who was standing there. . . . "We had 'em ready—just in case."

Sunday service 10:45 a. m. Sunday school at 12 o'clock. Wednesday evening meeting at 8 o'clock. "Matter" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, September 21. The Golden Text is: "Love not the world, neither the things that are in the world" (I John 2:15). Among Bible citations comprising the Lesson-Sermon is the following: "For we know that if our earthly house of this tabernacle were dissolved, we have a building of God, an house not made with hands, eternal in the heavens" (II Corinthians 5:1, 2, 4, 5). The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Matter is neither self-existent nor a product of Spirit. An image of mortal thought, reflected on the retina, is all that the eye beholds. Take away so-called mortal mind, which constitutes matter's supposed selfhood, and matter can take no cognizance of matter" (p. 479).

Salem Evangelical
Sunday school at 9:45 in charge of Mr. E. D. Huber. Morning worship at 10:45 with Rev. Schieb in the pulpit. The pastor will preach upon the theme, "With God who goes before" in the morning and "Shall we streamline religion?" at 7:45 in the evening. The choir will sing J. W. Elliott's anthem, "O, Most Merciful", in the morning service. The youth services will be held at 6:45 in the evening. On Wednesday evening the Woman's Missionary Society will have charge of the prayer meeting.—Stephen R. Schieb, pastor.

billion. You can easily expect, therefore, that the costs of collecting the new $13.9 or $14 billion tax bill will run proportionately.
One of the big increases in tax collecting costs will come from the lowering of the personal exemptions. When the exemptions were lowered last year, from $1000 to $800 for single persons, and from $2500 to $2000 for married persons, internal revenue had to add 2000 field employes to make the collections from the new taxpayers. Now, with the exemptions lowered again for next year to $750 and $1500, there will be nearly five million more returns filed, bringing the total number of actual income taxpayers to approximately 13 million, or about one federal income taxpayer to every 10 people.
For the past two years, the average cost to the federal government in collecting each $100 in taxes has been $1.12. If that figure holds good for the coming fiscal year, and it may be lower, the cost of collecting this $14 billion in prospective taxes will be more than $150 million. That's equal to two new cruisers, right there.

DOCTOR SHORTAGE
In Germany, there now is only one doctor for every 3000 civilians, because 10,000 Jews have been removed from the list, and many physicians were called up for military work.

Fine Missionary Speaker Secured for Annual Banquet of Three First Presbyterian Units

Mrs. W. Plumer Mills, Presbyterian missionary home on furlough from her work in Nanking, China, will be the guest speaker for the 16th annual banquet of the three missionary units of the First Presbyterian church.

This banquet will be held in conjunction with the meeting of the Presbyterial on Friday evening, September 26, in the church dining room.

Mrs. Mills first went to China in 1912, when her husband served there as a Y. M. C. A. secretary. In 1932, both were appointed to that field by the board of foreign missions of the Presbyterian Church and have been stationed there since.

When the invasion came in 1937, Mr. Mills remained but his wife and small daughter went to Shanghai until it was safe for them to return. She has a wide range of acquaintance not only with the former capital city, Nanking, but in several other parts of China, and with considerable experience in war and peace in this region which has been for so many years a center of Chinese political and cultural life.

Her talk is most timely and should be of much interest to the women of the community. She will speak in Oil City on Thursday and will go from here to Bradford, her itinerary taking her to many points in this part of the state during the month of September.

Reservations for the banquet must be made no later than Tuesday with Myrta Hill, general chairman, who may be reached by calling 1429-R.

The banquet will be served at 6:15 o'clock in the dining room, followed by the meeting in the Sunday school rooms at eight o'clock.

Mrs. J. H. Cruickshank is president of the Presbyterial unit, which comprises Warren, North Warren, Sugar Grove and Irvine. Presidents of the three missionary groups sponsoring the banquet are Mrs. George Harsh for the Lotta Dunham Auxiliary, Mrs. W. R. Carlin for the Second Auxiliary, and Mrs. J. H. McBride for the Arbutus Auxiliary.

TRICKY DISCARD STEALS CONTRACT IN AMATEUR PLAY

By WILLIAM E. McKENNEY
America's Card Authority

Most experienced duplicate players consider the team-of-four contest the most interesting form of tournament bridge. The only difficulty lies in getting four people who want to play together on a team. Every bridge player has three ratings—what he thinks of himself, what others think of him and how well he actually does play. Finding four people who agree their play is of about the same caliber is what holds up the popularity of team-of-four bridge. Interest in these contests, however, is increasing each year.

The amateur team-of-four at Asbury Park this year was won by Mr. and Mrs. William Cheeks of Washington, D. C., Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Wallendorf of Coral Gables, Fla., and Mrs. H. L. Zacks, of New York, a five-player team. The runners-up were Mrs. E. M. Goddard of Asbury Park, N. J., Mrs. H. A. Steiner of Deal, N. J., Mrs. Barney Lavine of Trenton, N. J., and Maurice Levin of Newark, N. J.

Mrs. Wallendorf is a clever player, apt to fool you if you are not careful. Today's hand demonstrates her skill. After taking the ace of hearts, West continued with the queen. Dummy played the king and Mrs. Wallendorf (South) discarded the deuce of diamonds.

This was a tricky discard. Declarer saw she could discard the five of clubs, whereupon game is probably easy if the diamond finesse wins. But Mrs. Wallendorf thought from the bidding that West must hold the king of diamonds. Her discard was made in the hope of inducing West later to lead a diamond. Then the club finesse would have to be won, but this looked like a better chance.

West fell for the bait. When he was in with the ace of spades, he led a low diamond. That gave Mrs. Wallendorf the game.

Lander

Lander, Sept. 16—Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Falconer were Mrs. Rose Gorsuch and son Sandy and Mrs. Ann Periago, of Vashon, Wash.; also Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Nikols, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kibbe and George Young, of Oil City.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Lindell, Mr. and Mrs. Jay Cowles, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Lindell spent last Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Lindell of Salamanca, N. Y.

Gerald and Sherwood Beck, of Erie, spent Sunday at their respective homes here.

Mrs. Leona Lindstrom, of Frewsburg, spent last week with her sister, Mrs. Ruth Swanson.

Mrs. Merril Livesey has resumed teaching in the High school at Kinzua.

Mr. and Mrs. George Mahan and daughter Joan were dinner guests of Mrs. Blanche Pickard in Jamestown, N. Y., on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Nelson spent Wed., Thurs. and Saturday at the Methodist conference in Meadville. Miss Mae Bishop and Mrs. Helen Samuelson attended on Saturday.

Miss Elsie Anderson, of Jamestown, spent a few days last week with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. William Arnwall.

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Putnam, Herbert Putnam Sr., Mr. and Mrs. Harry Kays, Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Nelson, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Putnam and two sons, acompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Allen Hayes of Lakewood, N. Y., and Miss Cecelia Dickens and Richard Nelson, of Sharon spent Sunday with Marion and Maude Ripley on Chautauqua Lake.

George Weiss, of Portland, Ore., called on old friends last week. He also visited the Thompson Hill school, of which Miss Laura Deming is now teacher. Mr. Weiss taught this school forty-nine years ago, at which time he related that he received $1.50 per day and paid the same for his board.

Menus of the Day

Menu For 7 Or 8

Grapefruit-Avocado Cocktail
French Dressing
Salmon Mold
Cabbage Relish in Lemon Cups
Buttered Asparagus
Cheese Roll Ups Currant Jam
Fresh Fruit
Coffee

Salmon Mold

4 tablespoons butter	2 tablespoons chopped sweet pickles
6 tablespoons flour	1 tablespoon minced parsley
2 cups milk	2 cups salmon (canned or boiled)
½ cup soft bread crumbs	3 egg yolks
½ teaspoon salt	3 egg whites, beaten
¼ teaspoon paprika

Melt butter and add flour. Pour in milk and cook slowly, stirring constantly until creamy sauce forms. Add crumbs, seasonings, salmon and yolks. Lightly fold in whites and pour into buttered ring or loaf mold. Bake 60 minutes in pan hot water in moderately slow oven (325). Unmold carefully and surround with lemon cups filled with cabbage relish salad.

Cheese Roll Ups

3 cups pastry flour	4 tablespoons fat
6 teaspoons baking powder	1 cup (about) milk
⅔ teaspoon salt	⅔ cup grated sharp cheese
¼ teaspoon celery salt	3 tablespoons butter

Mix flour, baking powder salt and celery salt. Cut in fat and add enough milk to make soft dough. Roll or pat it out until ¼ inch thick. Spread with cheese and butter and quickly roll up. Cut off ½ inch slices. Pinch edges together to keep in cheese and bake, flat, on shallow pan eight minutes in moderate oven. Serve warm.

These are delicious served with soups and salads as well as the main course of a meal.

For the Well-Dressed Woman

Soft dark color a-plenty for daytime clothes and the natural-looking silhouette stressing the American woman's good figure are news in the current showings of American collections. And these two style points are exemplified here. Jay Thorpe designed the julep green cress, left, draping the material from the back to form a simulated front peplum. The blue wool and velveteen two-piece dress shown at right is designed by Bergdorf-Goodman. Its peplum ripples smartly forward, but fit is emphasized, nevertheless. The hat is mustard-green with brilliant red, gold and blue feathers. The furs, shown here as a muff, unsnap to form a stole.

FOR THE LOVE OF PAM

By VIVIEN GREY

Chapter 11

Over-night Guest

FREDA was smiling, but there was a note in her voice that was far from laughter. For the first time Pam felt she could believe; that Freda was sincere with her. Then Freda was talking again:

"You see I wasn't as fried as I seemed when you came out and saw us in your flower beds."

"Fried?" Pam was puzzled. The vernacular of drinking was foreign language to her.

"Yes, sweet child, fried. Saturated. Spiffed. Or just plain intoxicated, if you'd rather. Only I wasn't, you see. I hadn't been drinking at all, but it suited me to have the handsome Jerry think I was helpless."

Freda was leaning forward a little and talking with sudden earnestness. "I heard everything, Pam. Just how sweet you were to me. I wouldn't have been that way to you. I want you to know that. It's only fair. I couldn't have been as big and fine as you've been. I fight for what I want in all the small ways a woman knows. I've never wanted anything as you want Jerry. If I had, I'd have been poisonous. I'd never have insisted that you be brought into my house, had things been reversed. I'm not made of that kind of stuff. And I'm surprising myself in wanting you to have Jerry."

"But that was nothing," Pam said quietly. "Anyone would have done what I did."

"That's what you think. Really it was heroic, Pam. Not one girl in my crowd would have done that. Not one. From now on I'm with you, Pam!"

"Thanks," Pam said in a very small voice. She was still hurt and stunned by the events and revelations of the night. "You will stay here?" she asked. "It's too late for you to go out alone."

"Yes, I will." Freda said with the quick decision of her sort. "Mother would scalp me if I came in at this hour. So show me a bed. I'll phone the hotel in the morning to tell her I've stayed with friends."

Pam took her upstairs to a room that was a revelation of simple beauty. There was an old teakwood bed that had once been part of a ship that had sailed the early seas. There was a little round table that had been made to take a ship's roll. There were old and rare bits of bric-a-brac.

Freda fell asleep almost as soon as Pam's soft footfalls left her room. Not Pam, however. She stood at her window, looking out into the star-swept early morning sky. The sweet heavy scent of the blooms of the orchid tree lay on the soft air. There were the low, vague sounds of tropic dawn—palm trees rustling, the sharp crack of the fruit of the sandbox tree exploding.

Pam turned finally to her own bed with its quaint patchwork quilt. She was more tired than she had realized. Sleep closed her eyes to the slowly waking world just as a shower dropped suddenly from the sky. One of those strangely tropical things—rain that comes swiftly and without warning from a suddenly clouding sky, and then stops just as quickly, leaving in its wake an incomparable freshness of atmosphere that is weighted with the pleasant scents of earth and flowers.

There was only a note in Freda's room when Pam went there. Pam read the large, flamboyant writing so characteristic of the girl:

"Thanks for everything. I still mean what I said last night."

Strange Music

DUVAL Street in Key West runs east and west, straight across the island. Near the west end, not far from the red brick building that houses the bank and not far from the dock where vessels from foreign ports tie up, is a hall that is rented upon occasion for band practice.

Not far from the hall, across a vacant lot, is an empty house sagging under the weight of a vine that blooms with an odorless brown flower that is dry and, to all appearances, lifeless even as its bud unfurls. It has a strange, luring sort of beauty that is changeless even after the dust of years has coated it. "Rose of Hell," they call it in Key West. Or by the less gusty souls, it is named "Wood Rose."

Two middle-aged tourists had stopped to admire the strange flower. The woman turned suddenly, her plain face lifted as if listening to some celestial strain.

"Tom! That music! And someone singing! I've never heard anything like it."

They stood entranced, the roses that never bear any fragrance, forgotten.

Edmund Antoine had arisen early and strolled to the docks. He had been watching the water, mysterious opal under a sky that was momentarily crowded with vagrant clouds; then turquoise and emerald, as the clouds scuttled away before the march of a warm, triumphant sun.

Antoine turned finally and walked along Duval Street. Just opposite the two tourists he stopped, held to the spot by a harmony of sound issuing from the hall. Two voices were blending in a sort of melodic unity that was more than singing together.

Antoine, with his sensitive ear trained to catch every nuance, every imperfection of measure and beat, had the look of a man who has just made an important discovery. He turned suddenly and went into the hall, realizing only then that the girl's voice was familiar.

In the hall Lenore stood close to Vincenzo Barolli, her singing lips uplifted slightly to his. His voice, as he looked down at her, poured from his throat like sunlit water flowing over a bed of velvety moss. Antoine was struck by something in their voices and their faces. He remembered seeing Barolli at the window while Lenore sang at his party at Pena's, sang with that odd brightness in her eyes that could have been tears.

Many things came back to him as he watched and listened. Barolli on the beach in casual conversation with Lenore. Barolli and Lenore at that little stand at the other end of Duval Street, where they sold that peculiarly tropic delicacy, sour-sop ice cream; talking interestedly over two dishes of the sweet with its strange, half sour, musky flavor. Lenore and Barolli sitting close on the steps of the cabana at Rest Beach where a white oleander bush grew out of the sand.

Barolli glanced at Antoine then and took up the baton, giving the boys the down beat, going through the number again without the voices. It was Barolli's orchestra, then, Lenore walked toward Antoine.

"You've caught me, Eddie," she said.

"Doing a very creditable job," was his answer in a preoccupied tone. Lenore sensed that he wanted to give Barolli and his music undivided attention, and said nothing more.

A New Lenore

AS HE crashed into a finale that softened gradually until it was only a whisper. Barolli turned to Antoine and held out the baton.

"My name is Barolli," he said. "Give my boys a whirl. See how they follow." It was evident he was proud of his collection of young musicians, their dark, sensitive countenances testifying visibly of their Cuban heritage. There was an eagerness in their faces as they turned to Antoine.

"And this is Edmund Antoine, Vin," Lenore said. "He's maestro at the hotel."

"Yes, I know," returned Barolli.

"You've evidently done some fine selecting and training here, Barolli," Antoine said. "I didn't suppose the island would produce this sort of stuff."

"Oh, yes. They're born musicians. They are so grateful for a chance to let it out."

"They should have plenty of chance." Antoine turned then to the musicians. He looked them over calmly, seemed to be taking stock of them. The music on the racks was the old number Fritzi Scheff made famous: "Kiss Me Again." Antoine gave the boys a quick down beat.

Lenore and Vincent took up the words. Their voices soared, died to a tender pianissimo, and soared again. People passing on the street stopped to listen.

Barolli's smile, when he turned to Antoine as they finished, covered a riotous welling of emotion. He had been singing beside beautiful Lenore Winthrope, his voice blending with hers, and his boys had played as they never had before. It was almost too much for one day.

"You do with them what I never can," he said.

"No"—Antoine was quick to give credit where it was due—"all you need is a little time. Come around some morning. I'd like to have a talk with you. I've got to push along now. We play for lunch today.

"Edmund. I'm going your way. Let me drive you," Lenore offered quickly. And then, as Antoine suspected, after they had settled in Lenore's car, Lenore wanted to talk.

"Eddie, you won't say anything to Adele, will you? I mean about my being there with Vin? She and Father would just die if they knew. Of course it's not serious, I mean with Vin. It's just my art, my singing. And Gervase is coming down with Father any time now. I just don't want anything unpleasant. You see they wouldn't understand."

"But I understand, Lenore," Antoine said seriously, wishing to set her fears at rest. "I won't mention anything to your mother or father or your handsome Count Gervase de Bellefort—though I hate to see you throw yourself away on that effete gentleman!" He laughed a little on the last. "You know Barolli really has got something."

"Oh, Eddie, do you think so, really?" Her eagerness was slightly surprising to Antoine.

When they reached Casa Marina Antoine dropped down on a bench for the few moments he still had left, and watched Lenore go into the hotel.

He wasn't so sure it was all just her art that took her to that barren hall to practice with Barolli. He had seen her face as she stood beside Barolli lifting her voice with his in song. Lenore hadn't realized how much was written there.

The Red Jackets go after their second conquest tomorrow afternoon on Russell Field with the kickoff for their battle against the Pace Athletic Club slated for 2:30 o'clock, and the local lineup promises to show fans a smoother type of football than that seen last week in the opening game of the campaign for which they had a license to look a little ragged.

But with material that is shaping into a good team and what may be a great team, though the holes in the forward wall left by Lukas, Rossman, Zerbe and Parashlite of last year's aggregation made a hard job for Coaches Reese and Paris to find men with which to fill in capably, the Jackets should really get their grid machine rolling in high gear against "Whitey" Fowle's organization.

The contest promises to be a hard fought fracas, and the visitors aren't coming to Warren with the idea of giving anything away for nothing. But with a fairly sound ground attack and an aerial offensive that's dangerous if it gets under way, the locals can make any afternoon unpleasant for most teams, and hope to do so tomorrow.

Both teams will lineup evenly in regard to weight, the invaders boasting one of the largest forward walls in this section of the state, and a speedy backfield that ranges in weight on a scale with that of Warren's runners.

Having last year turned in a record of eight victories, one tie and a loss, the Pacers guarantee that they'll present a worthwhile program before the many district followers of the Jackets. Last year's tie was a scoreless battle with the strong Trafford Alumni, a team edged by the champs at Russell Field 7-0 in one of the closest games recorded on Jacket books last year. The Pace A. C. defeated the highly touted Stowe-Rox Cadets, formerly the Rox Rooneys, with whom the Jackets have tangled in recent years in a merry little series that never saw either team hold much of an edge on their opponent.

With interest growing and local semi-pro fans steadily getting the football fever, tomorrow's fracas is expected to outdraw last week's opener against Homewood, with a forecasted crowd of around 1600 expected to pass through the turnstiles at popular prices.

Robinson Now Ready For Shot at Crown

New York, Sept. 20.—(AP)—Ray Robinson, the lanky New York Negro who has been regarded for several months as the most promising young fighter in the lightweight division, apparently is ready for his title shot as soon as they get an undisputed title for him to shoot at.

Robinson turned pro last October, and in his first 23 professional bouts scored 19 knockouts and won four decisions. Among others, he licked Sammy Angott, the N. B. A. champion, in an overweight bout. But there still was a question as to whether he could go in there with Lew Jenkins, recognized in New York as 135-pound boss.

Last night Ray faced canny Maxie Shapiro of New York, who was good enough a few years back to hang up a record of 37 fights without a loss. It took Robinson just three rounds, Referee Arthur Donovan finally stopping the affair after Maxie had been down twice in the second round and three times in the third.

City Loop Opens Tuesday Evening

The City League schedule for their opening night next Tuesday was announced today along with team rosters by President Myron "Chick" Check, and one of the fastest loops in years is expected to be the outcome of this season's race.

The Busy Bees roll against the Warren Baking Company on alleys one and two and McCabe's Restaurant faces the B & B Smoke Shop on three and four at seven o'clock.

At nine o'clock the slate reads: Texas Lunch vs. Darling Jewelry, 1-2; V. F. W. vs. Recreation Center, 3-4.

Team rosters are as follows:

Texas Lunch: R. Check, Lundquist, Smith, Hultman, M. Check; McCabe's—McLean, Bleech, Christensen, Klein, Hagberg; B & B Smoke Shop—Ritchie, Lord, H. Wooster, Baldensperger, Cosmano; Darling Jewelry—Graebner, Malone, Carlson, Bjers, Ruggaber; Busy Bee—Juliano, Willard, Waples, V. Juliano, Miller; Warren Baking Co.—Anderson, Minelli, N. Wooster, Randinelli, Gelotte; 3-G Oil—Lynch, W. Hoagvall, E. Hoagvall, Grosch, Cashman; V. F. W. Post 631—Weidert, M. Johnson, Stanton, Rossell, Simmonsen.

Last Night's Bouts

New York—Ray Robinson, 135½, New York, stopped Maxie Shapiro, 133¾, New York (3).
Steve Belloise, 154½, New York, and Antonio Fernandez, 150½, Chile, drew (8).
Beau Jack, 134, Augusta, Ga., stopped Al Reid, 130½, New York (7).
Akron, Ohio—Sammy Angott, 138, Washington, Pa., knocked out Lee Sheppard, 140, Cleveland, Ohio (1).
San Francisco—Ray Lunny, 133, San Francisco, knocked out Honey Mellody, 135, Boston (1).

MINOR LEAGUES

International League (Finals)
Montreal 6, Newark 4 (Montreal leads best-of-seven series, 2-1).

American Association (Finals)
Columbus 8, Louisville 1 (Columbus leads best-of-seven series, 1-0).

NO DENIAL THAT YANKS ARE GREAT; SOUNDEST CLUB IN BASEBALL TODAY

Let's take our mind off tomorrow's Red Jacket football game, and all other sports in general, forget about the sweltering National loop pennant scramble, and talk about the greatest club in baseball today, heavy favorites to beat whatever opponent they meet for another World Series title, the New York Yankees. Year after year the Yankees uncover rookie after rookie who skyrockets into the sportlight and soon becomes one of the most famous players in baseball. And annually Joe McCarthy's Brutal Bombers are reckoned with as the outstanding threat in the junior circuit. Three years ago up shot Joe Gordon, now hailed as one of the finest second basemen in the majors, and the capable guardian of the keystone sack is plenty good in every department. Not too long ago Joltin' Joe DiMaggio was ushered into the lineup and that was never regarded as a mistake. Now this year along came Rizzuto and Priddy, and the former star, who has become the leading Yankee shortstop, is hailed as the King of Queens because of his value to the Bronx Baseball Barons. Moreover, only the great DiMag is outhitting him on the pennant-winning club, and Ruzzuto's bat may swing decisively come time for the championship to be decided.

From bat boy to president, the Yanks are sound as rock, and not the least of these departments is Coach Art Fletcher, famous third base traffic officer who gives Yankee runners either the red or green light, and with exceptional accuracy that accounts for several additional and important runs in a season. Many times a candidate for managerial posts, Fletcher has turned them down, other than his 1923-26 stay with the Phillies, and is satisfied to coach and play No. 2 man on the New York club. Besides being one of the greatest coaches in baseball, Fletcher holds a record of his own for drawing the most World Series bonuses, eleven of them so far and he's up for his twelfth. He's deposited over 50,000 shuckles from series checks in the years of 1911-12-13-17 and 1927-28-32-36-37-38-39. Lefty Gomez, who staged a comeback to once again rein as one of the best pitchers the Yanks ever had, was nearly a gift to the Dodgers after the 1940 season, but Ed Barrow kept him, after furiously refusing the Flatbush Wonders their request to try him out and keep him if Gomez was satisfactory. That's probably the closest the Bombers ever came to making a mistake, and the light-hearted Gomez, who has never lost a series game and has won six, as many as any other pitcher and more successively than any other tosser, plans to pay Barrow back by copping at least another championship game against either the Cards or Brooks when the fur flies in October.

Just off the grid-dle . . . Aside to J. S. . . . Now you are talking sense, pal, but don't expect an easy program next year or the next against Warren's Dragons, because, as we told you earlier this week, the material is there and developing it is all that's needed to make Warren one of the strongest grid combinations in this district . . . As if they haven't been for a majority of their historic years, anyhow . . . That Recreation Center banquet was complete and tops, in this scribe's opinion . . . Boy, for dinners and waitresses like that we'll print those box scores in red ink . . . The Red Jackets will rein as slight favorites in tomorrow's clash, but don't expect the score to add up in cut time . . . We wouldn't be surprised if they take to the air, but definitely, to trip the Pace A. C., and even that is no easy proposition . . . Jack Dempsey recently endorsed circus life thus: "This circus life is grand. I love it—short hours, lot of traveling. See a lot of people. I like people." . . . And the former heavy king traveled under the big top in his younger days, incidentally.

Sports Round-up

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

New York, Sept. 20.—(The Special News Service)—Here's football—so soon—to take the headlines away from the pennant race for a day or two . . . . And if all those tales from South Carolina are true it may be quite a send-off for the season when Tennessee runs into Furman . . . We've been hearing for weeks that Dizzy McLeod's boys really intend to knock off those vols, and with backs like Shanghai Barnett, Dewey Proctor and Skeeter Coyle, and Billy Seel (who's supposed to be the fastest end in the southern conference) they might even do it . . . Only other major game is N. C. State vs. Richmond and the Wolfpack figures to get a running start in the conference . . . Not many big teams playing outside the south, but you might take a look at what Portland U. does on the west coast . . . Tip is out that they are going to make a splash this year and cut into conference prestige . . . Boston College and Duquesne are the east's early starters and they'll be hard to catch . . . We look for Navy to spring a few surprises this year after what the Tars did to Georgetown in a private scrimmage the other day . . . They say that Bill Busik really can pass . . . But don't forget what the Scouts reported last year—that the East's best teams were B. C., Cornell and the Colgate freshmen.

Pennant Progress Report

Seems the Cards can bust into the headlines only when the Dodgers aren't playing, but all they do is win ball games . . . Most colorful guy around Sportsman's Park is old Diz Dean, the broadcaster . . . They say he's added at least two dozen new words to the dictionary, such as "the players are goin' back to their respectable positions." . . . If Johnny Mize stays out for long it may hurt St. Louis more than that time game with the Giants which looks big enough today to decide the race . . . N. Y. papers rewarded the reporters who made the western trip with the Giants by sending them on to cover the finish at St. Looey . . . They report the Cards still are in two slumps—hitting and attendance . . . Only eight hits yesterday and three of them by Stan Musial, who isn't eligible for the world series . . . And the crowd only 3,300 while the Dodgers' show today in Philly was sold out in advance . . . By the way, what's become of the Yanks? . . . They were 20 games ahead when they clinched the pennant, now it's only 18 . . . They've got a flock of records waiting 'round the corner that get most of the attention now . . . Best news is that the cast is off Charley Keller's ankle and he may get into the series.

Today's Guest Star

D. T. Caywood, Frankfort (Ky) State Journal: "I notice where a syndicate headed by John B. Kelly is ready to offer $500,000 for the National League franchise of the Philadelphia Phillies. While Nick Etten is quite a ball player in my estimation, isn't that a little steep for one man?"

Service Dept.

Lieut. James D. Robinson, who landed a blazing plane safely during the maneuvers in Louisiana, is the same guy who used to play football, basketball and baseball for Rhode Island State . . . Bob Smith, former Peoria High School twirler, reports he fanned Hank Greenberg the first time he faced Hank in a pickup game in camp but he never could get him out again . . . Ben Sheridan, one of Notre Dame's noted S-men, is coaching football at Fort Riley, Kans . . . Standouts on the Jefferson Barracks (Mo) grid squad are Bob Cone of Wisconsin and Abe Palmer, from Vanderbilt and Southwestern U. . . . They shouldn't have much trouble operating behind a 200-pound line . . . Lefty Pressman, who pitched for the Norfolk Piedmont Leaguers before Uncle Sam took him, tossed a four-hitter yesterday for Camp Upton against the N. Y. Daily News team.

Williams, Reiser Still Lead Loops With Mighty Bats

New York, Sept. 20—(AP)—The major leagues are turning the last corner before the end of the season and Ted Williams of the Boston Red Sox and Pete Reiser of the Brooklyn Dodgers still are outrunning their rivals for the batting championships.

With another week to go, Williams has an average of .405 and a splendid chance to be the first .400 hitter in the big leagues since Bill Terry hit .401 for the New York Giants in 1930.

No one has finished above .400 in the American League since 1923 when Harry Heilmann hit .403.

Williams dropped five points this week, but unless he runs into a string of tough luck next week should enter the charmed circle.

Reiser slipped three points to .335, but all vestige of opposition disappeared at the same time.

Johnny Hopp of the St. Louis Cardinals was hitting .325 and still threatening in second place last Saturday. But this week he skidded to .309.

Johnny Mize, who had been third at .323, dropped to .317, although this was good enough to tie Stan Hack of the Chicago Cubs for second.

Whirly Is Running At Belmont Today

New York, Sept. 20—(AP)—Whirlaway, which looked like anything but a racing champion in his last start, goes out today at Belmont Park to prove that even a champion can have his bad days.

Enough fans are expected to believe that theory to make Warren Wright's speedster and his stablemate, Dandy Fox, 1 to 5 favorites to win the 49th running of the Lawrence Realization over a mile and five-eighths. It's the longest distance he has been called upon to run.

The last time out, Whirly took a beating from War Relic at Narragansett Park. He didn't have any excuse for that, but today there's no colt in his class arrayed against him. The only horses named to face Whirlaway were Hal Price Headley's Alaking, William duPont's Fairymant and W. E. Boeing's Time Counts, a surprise entry which is considered a 50-1 shot.

If Whirly collects the top money of about $15,000, he will move into third place among the money-winning leaders. He's already collected $324,611. Then he'd have less than $100,000 to go to pass Seabiscuit and Sun Beau.

Sam Snead Leads Large Golf Field

Philadelphia, Sept. 20—(AP)—Hillbilly Sammy Snead's regained his long lost putting touch and he'd better hold on to it if he expects to keep ahead of the seige guns stalking his trail in the $7,500 Henry Hurst Invitational golf inaugural.

Unmindful of a broken middle finger on his left hand, the Hot Springs, Va., sharpshooter put on a dazzling performance to shave six strokes off par for a record-breaking 64 on the initial 18 holes at Torresdale-Frankford Country Club.

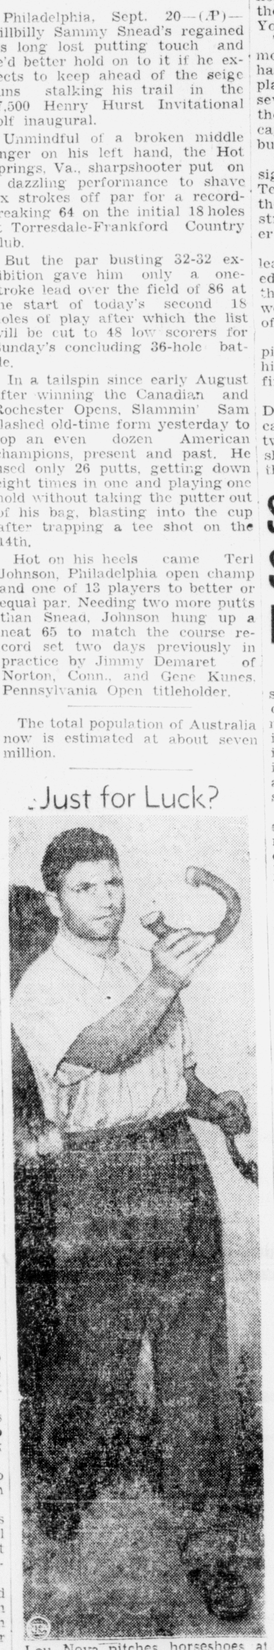

But the par busting 32-32 exhibition gave him only a one-stroke lead over the field of 86 at the start of today's second 18 holes of play after which the list will be cut to 48 low scorers for Sunday's concluding 36-hole battle.

In a tailspin since early August after winning the Canadian and Rochester Opens, Slammin' Sam flashed old-time form yesterday to top an even dozen American champions, present and past. He used only 26 putts, getting down eight times in one and playing one hold without taking the putter out of his bag, blasting into the cup after trapping a tee shot on the 14th.

Hot on his heels came Teri Johnson, Philadelphia open champ and one of 13 players to better or equal par. Needing two more putts than Snead, Johnson hung up a neat 65 to match the course record set two days previously in practice by Jimmy Demaret of Norton, Conn., and Gene Kunes, Pennsylvania Open titleholder.

The total population of Australia now is estimated at about seven million.

FLATBUSH AND PHILS TANGLE IN TWIN BILL TODAY; CARDS AND CHICUBS CONTINUE WARS

By JUDSON BAILEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

The baseball season is getting shorter by the minute, and perhaps a solution to the struggle in the National League is getting nearer by the same reckoning—but it isn't visible to the naked eye.

While the Brooklyn Dodgers were in Philadelphia yesterday frittering away an off day, the St. Louis Cardinals were busy blistering the Chicago Cubs, 3-1, and making the race in the senior circuit just about as close as it can get.

Today the standings are:

	W.	L.	Pct.	Gbl.	Gtp
Brooklyn	93	52	.641	—	9
St. Louis	92	52	.639	½	9

For the first time in months the two rivals have exactly the same number of games left to play—and the pressure that has been and still is on the Cardinals becomes readily apparent.

The fortunes of the contenders may fluctuate between now and the close of the campaign a week from tomorrow, but if during that time the Dodgers win exactly as many games as the Cards, Brooklyn will get the pennant.

St. Louis has to win one game more than the Dodgers down the home stretch because of the tie the Cards played with the New York Giants last week.

This assignment is made all the more difficult because Brooklyn has seven games with the last-place Phillies and two with the seventh-place Boston Braves while the Cardinals must tackle the Chicago Cubs five times and Pittsburgh four.

The Cardinals have shown no sign of cracking. The return of Terry Moore to centerfield and the addition of some rookie strength has given them new power for the final lap.

Yesterday, in the only major league game scheduled, they looked as good as ever in bowling over the Cubs, who only a couple of weeks ago knocked St. Louis out of first place.

Poker-faced Harry Gumbert pitched seven-hit ball to obtain his 11th victory of the season and fifth straight.

The Cards are so close to the Dodgers, as a result, that they can take over first place today by two percentage points if Brooklyn should split its doubleheader with the Phillies.

SHORTER GRID SEASON MAY BE P.I.A.A. RULING

Harrisburg, Sept. 20—(AP)—A shorter football season, long advocated by leaders of the Pennsylvania Interscholastic Athletic Association, has a good chance of coming up for approval of the association's board of control this year as a result of the infantile paralysis outbreak.

Schools are getting a taste of abbreviated schedules because the near-epidemic has delayed school opening in nine counties and the PIAA asked the football practice be eliminated there also.

Edmund Wicht, PIAA secretary, said today he was in complete accord with a move by J. Wynn Fredericks, state health and physical education director, to make the season start around September 20.

Wicht said that one and two weeks of practice before opening games and schedules of 10 to 12 games were too hard on the athletes.

"They should have at least three weeks of drilling before the opening game," he added, "and that's a theory I've held for a long time."

Under present regulations, schools may open practice August 25, but there's a tendency in some districts to begin the season as early as September 5.

"Cool nights and the use of lights have spurred the scheduling of night games," he said, and that has brought earlier season tilts, stretching the roster to 11 or more games.

The board of control meets in Philadelphia November 10, and the proposal to limit the start to late September is expected to be placed before the rule-making body—although Wicht said he would not submit the plan himself.

UNDAUNTED

More than half a million people live on the slopes of Mount Etna despite the fact that this volcano has erupted 19 times in the last 100 years.

BY TED MEIER

Philadelphia, Sept. 20—(AP)—Proudly boasting "you can't beat a club like ours," Manager Leo Durocher of the cocky and confident Dodgers nominated his two ace hurlers for a doubleheader against the Phillies today in the hope of boosting Brooklyn's lead over the Cardinals in their torrid National League pennant fight.

"This is our opportunity to put St. Louis out of the race and we aren't going to muff it," declared Leo in picking 20-game winners Whitlow Wyatt and Kirby Higbe to oppose the last-place but always dangerous Phils in the start of a five-game series which might determine the flag chase.

Back from what Durocher described as "the greatest western trip in 16 years," the Flatbush outfit spent yesterday in idleness while its first place margin was trimmed to a mere half game by the Card triumph over Chicago.

"They came from behind to win games out west that gave me the greatest thrill I ever had in my life," said Leo. "They can't beat us from now in. We beat the best pitchers and the best clubs when the chips were down. Sure, we're going to win the pennant."

He shrugged off the $150 fine levied on him by League Prexy Ford Frick for his rumpus with Umpire George Magerkurth at Pittsburgh over a balk called against Pitcher Hugh Casey which led to a Pirate win. Insisting it wasn't a balk, Durocher added "we should have won the game and of course I got sore. Any red-blooded guy would do the same thing. But that's baseball—tomorrow is another day."

Right now his big worry is scalping the Phillies. Wyatt, who has been rested since his thrilling 1 to 0 three-hit shutout over the Cards last week, is slated to pitch the first game, starting at noon (EST). He is likely to be opposed by the veteran Cy Blanton, who has won six and lost 12.

Higbe, a former Phil who was sold to the Dodgers for $100,000 last winter, and Southpaw Frank Hoerst are to hook up in the afterpiece. Hoerst pitched the best game of his career the last time the Dodgers were in Shibe Park, giving up only four hits and winning, 4 to 0.

Weiland Will Mentor Hershey Hockey Club

Hershey, Pa., Sept. 20.—(AP)—The Hershey Bears hockey team will enter the American League ice scramble this year under the tutelage of Ralph "Cooney" Weiland, who led the Boston Bruins to the world's hockey championship last season.

The little center-ice star was named to succeed Herb Mitchell, who coached the chocolate town's American League entry for the past two years and before that piloted Hershey amateur teams to three consecutive Eastern League titles.

Weiland started major league hockey with Boston in 1928. In 1929 he formed what was known as the "Dynamite Trio" with Dit Clapper and Dutch Gainer, and set an all-time National League scoring record of 43 goals and 30 assists in a 44-game schedule. The new Hershey coach also holds one of the fastest individual scoring marks in the National League—two goals in seven seconds.

said only that the new threat was the result of a series of "incidents" at the plant.

The 44,000 striking coal miners agreed to go back to work pending settlement of the dispute over the union shop issue. The agreement provides that work will be resumed for 30 days after which either side may give three days' notice of termination. The so-called captive mines are owned by steel companies which take their entire output.

Meanwhile there was a fear in shipping circles that disputes between seamen and owners of vessels over the question of war bonuses might develop into a general strike.

The AFL union wants a bonus of $60 monthly for trips to the West Indies, which they want considered a war zone. Bonuses of $1 a day are paid for trips to Canadian waters.

The Maritime Commission requisitioned three struck vessels of the Alcoa Banner, the Alcoa Trader and the Alcoa Scout—to hasten supplies to Caribbean ports. The ships were expected to clear New York harbor today and tomorrow with crews paid the same scale paid by Alcoa.

14-Man Group Will Draft New "Super-Budget"

(From Page One)

Senate finance committee told reporters that "the new body may be able to make very effective reduction in non-defense spending by formulating a program which the people and the members of congress can tie to."

George said that since both the administration and congress were represented on the group, it should be able to formulate a workable plan of economy and then work for its adoption by congress.

"It might become a sort of super-budgeting group," he added. "Both the administration and members of congress have agreed that expenditures for non-essentials should be reduced, but so far no one has taken the initiative."

Senator Byrd (D-Va), who sponsored the amendment creating the committee, told reporters that "it will be the business of this committee to determine how much can be slashed from non-defense, non-essential federal expenditures."

There was considerable speculation as to who would head the new body. Some administration leaders predicted that Secretary Morgenthau or Budget Director Harold D. Smith would be chairman. Other informants said place might fall to George, Chairman Doughton (D-NC) of the house ways and means committee or Chairman Glass (D-Va) of the appropriations committee.

Seattle, Sept. 20—(AP)—The Post - Intelligencer, outspoken critic of the Navy Department's relations with the press, expressed gratification today over the new navy publicity policy which allowed publication today of news of 12 British warships being in American ports.

The newspaper, published by John Boettiger, son-in-law of President Roosevelt, said in a page one editorial that it always has felt that publicity regarding the presence of British warships in American repair yards "could only serve the most helpful purposes."

The newspaper criticized policies of Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox toward the press after a naval station guard fired four shots to stop a boat carrying another paper's photographer in a restricted zone at the arrival of a Russian military mission September 4.

Third Army's central front.

"Because we had to wait for infantry troops to move on foot, we could not attack with our tanks when we were in a position to cut the Third Army to pieces," Scott said. "We should have gone right in and hit them before they got set."

A half million men of the two armies are resting until Monday night, finished with five days of a gruelling test in which a smaller army with armored divisions lost the popular decision to a bigger but slower force. Combat planes stole the show.

Lake Charles, La., Sept. 20.—(AP)—Major General H. A. Dargue, praising the safety tactics of pilots of 800 planes in the Louisiana war maneuvers in which five airmen have been killed said today the airforce's new type bombers have withstood their first tremendous field tests.

Included among the new ships tested under simulated war conditions was the B-26 bomber which Robert A. Lovett, undersecretary of the War Department for air, has described as the fastest in the world. Army airmen said it could fly faster than 350 miles per hour.

A crash of a training plane soon after a takeoff from the Parksley, Va., airport killed Second Lieutenants Carlyle O. Hoch of Newark, N. J., and Angus J. MacDonald, Los Angeles.

Twelve others died earlier in the war games involving the Second and Third armies. One person was killed in a plane crash, eight in highway accidents, two by drowning and one by suicide.

was going to be such an important issue in next year's congressional campaigns as to force a political realignment.

"President Roosevelt and Mr. Willkie both promised to the voters of this country that they would keep us out of war," he said. He declared that the president, evidently with Willkie's approval, had accomplished "the breach of this promise by short circuiting the constitutional power of congress to declare war" when he told the navy to shoot on sight at Axis warcraft in "defensive waters."

suffered in the crash of the "getaway car."

Dr. A. M. Gigliotti said the third bandit "probably would recover."

A check by Federal Bureau of Investigation authorities and police today revised the amount of the bandits' loot downward from $3,500 to about $1,072 in cash.

The pursuit was touched off yesterday by the third holdup at the First National Bank of Harrisville, 30 miles northeast of here.

Entering the bank five minutes before closing time, the men told Assistant Cashier W. E. McBride "this is a stickup. One false move and we'll blow out your brains."

They emptied the cash drawer and sped away.

Police Chief Ernest Hartman, armed with a sub-machine gun, halted them as they approached Ellwood City. Ducking a hail of bullets, the chief blazed away. He hit two of the men before running out of ammunition.

Hearing the shots, Policeman Edward Shaffer and Jimmy Pasta, drug store employe, chased the robbers at high speed through the town. Three miles from here the bandits' car overturned down a 15-foot embankment.

Two motorists, unaware of the robbers' identity, drove up to assist them. Surprised, they had their hands in the air when Shaffer and Pasta arrived.

"We can't make any time in this trap with seven people here," one of the bandits said as the trio prepared to continue flight in another car.

"Well, let's get rid of some of them," said another, threatening the pursuers with a rifle.

Pasta related later:

"Then I got scared and grabbed for the rifle and shot him. I don't know how I'd have done it if I hadn't been scared I was going to die."

Another robber blacked Shaffer's eye with a wrench. But the officer bested him. Hartman said that when he got there the bandits were subdued. "In fact, I never saw a better job of subduing," he declared.

The chief identified the Pennsylvania trio as Earl Everts, 28, Smithfield, who was killed; Kenneth Palmer, 33, Volant, and Albert Feelo, 26, Republic, who died today.

All the loot, soaked with blood, was recovered.

The Washington county district attorney's office said Feelo had been sentenced 3½ to 7 years in May, 1938, as an accessory in the slaying of a Fredericktown man.

Hartman, of medium build and about 40 years old, has figured in other spectacular captures here. About two years ago he killed a suspect bandit who had knocked him down with a tear gas gun.

Mrs. Laura Jash and Angelo Decarbo, both of Ellwood City, were the motorists who went to the bandits' assistance—and were astonished to find guns levelled at them. One of the holdup men ordered them to help get his wounded comrades into Decarbo's car.

At that point Shaffer and Pasta drove up in the latter's car.

"Get my buddies into that car," Everts ordered, "and get 'em in quick."

Pasta said that as he grabbed Everts' .30-30 rifle, he called to the policeman to "let him have it."

"Sheffer slugged Palmer," he recalled. "Palmer hit him in the eye with a wrench, but Ed (Shaffer) took it away from him and hit him across the head. He had to hit him almost a dozen times before he stopped fighting."

Hartman said Palmer was one of the Volant bank robbers in 1930. Palmer and Feelo were taken to Ellwood City hospital. Feelo had a bullet wound in the stomach and spine.

Mrs. Jash and Decarbo said they believed the timely arrival of Shaffer and Pasta saved their lives.

State police said an unidentified motorist telephoned the tip that the bandits were heading for Ellwood City. After hearing the police radio alarm, a car roared past the motorist and he suspected it was the bandits.

State Police Lieut. A. J. Hudock said the capture was "most efficiently done."

No one was harmed during the bank robbery in Harrisville, Butler county. The employes were ordered to lie on the floor, and when Clare Glenn, Harrisville school student, entered the bank, he also was forced to lie down.

On the way out the robbers encountered a lumber company representative and relieved him of a $350 deposit.

Throughout the state new cases are being reported daily, but Dr. A. Hamilton Stewart, acting secretary of health, said the total for the current week "is a little below the level had for the last three weeks, which makes the situation look a little better."

In Lineaville, Crawford county, a 14-day quarantine on public gatherings including schools, churches and theatres was invoked by authorities after a year-old child was reported ill of the disease. The action followed a similar ban in nearby Saegertown, where one case was reported.

Two cases were diagnosed in Mercer county—a Clark man and five-year-old Slippery Rock girl.

Seventeen cases were recorded by the health department yesterday, sending the total to 441.

SOMEWHAT STEADIER COURSE IS CHARTED ON THE MARKET TODAY

New York, Sept. 20—(AP)—Stocks charted a somewhat steadier course in today's market but the majority failed to pick up any real recovery tail winds.

Indecisive shifts ruled dealings from the start. While scattered plus signs appeared here and there as the brief session progressed, these were offset by a wide assortment of small fractional declines. Most leaders pointed moderately downward at the close.

The pace was relatively slow during the greater part of the proceedings although several blocks of low-priced issues put the two-hour volume at around 300,000 shares.

Stocks lacking rallying animation included U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Chrysler, General Motors, Great Northern, Anaconda, Western Union, U. S. Rubber, Sears Roebuck, J. I. Case, Douglas Aircraft, Sperry, Consolidated Aircraft, Allied Chemical, Johns-Manville, Union Carbide, Texas Corp., Savage Arms and Warner Bros.

Ahead now and then were American Can, Caterpillar Tractor, International Harvester, American Smelting, Pennsylvania, General Electric and Eastman Kodak.

are hammering at Leningrad with increased pressure but the Russians show no signs of diminishing their fierce defense.

In the center, the Russians are carrying out counterattacks directed at regaining Smolensk but the Germans attach little importance to these assauts.

Both the German and Russian capitals had air-raid alarms during the night.

The Germans said British bombers attempted to attack Berlin but were kept off by anti-aircraft guns. One raiding plane was reported shot down.

The Russians said one German plane succeeded in bombing Moscow but no damage was caused."

The Nazis have acknowledged British raids on various cities in north Germany and admitted that "explosives and incendiary bombs dropped in residential quarters resulted in a number of dead and wounded among the civilian population."

In London, the authoritative Press Association said the Royal Air Force did not attack Berlin during the night, leaving the possibility that the Russian air force made the aerial thrust.

The German High Command also reported capture of the islands of Vormsi and Mumu at the mouth of the Gulf of Riga, preparing the way of an assault on strongly held Russian island of Oesel. Mumu and Oesel are linked by a causeway.

The British air ministry said the RAF bombed Stettin, Germany's biggest Baltic port, about 100 miles northeast of Berlin, and set many large fires among docks, warehouses and railway yards, while coastal command planes bombed Nantes, in German-occupied France.

In the Far East, the Japanese claimed and the Chinese acknowledged successes for an invasion force in Hunan province, one of China's richest rice-producing districts.

Lewis Demand Brushed Aside By Insurgents

coal diggers, demanded that they go back to their jobs only a few hours before the announcement of plans to extend the walkout. Federal and state mediators also joined in efforts to settle the controversy.

The walkout is a protest against an increase in dues from $1 to $1.50 a month levied by the District 7 convention to help financially distressed locals and an assessment boost from $2 to $6 a year approved by national referendum to build up the union treasury. Only miners in the district pay the dues hike while the added assessment affects all the 100,000 anthracite diggers in teh state. Several hundred workers in District one walked out earlier in the week but returned when operators agreed not to take the assessment out of their pay through the check-off system.

Westmoreland Election Row Is Unsettled

so an appeal could be taken to the supreme court at Philadelphia next Tuesday, when a similar case in the city of Philadelphia will be heard. They said both cases could be decided at the same time.

The Philadelphia case is an appeal on the proposed election of a mayor November 4 to succeed the late Robert Lamberton.

Election of a Westmoreland register was ordered by the Democratic-controlled county board of commissioners. The Republicans claimed the governor should appoint a successor to fill the unexpired term of Wirsing, a Democrat, running until January, 1944.

The Democratic executive committee has called a meeting for September 27 to select its nominee. Seven persons were mentioned for the post.
